Man, Woman Killed When Car Plunges Off Bridge

BODIES FOUND DAY AFTER ACCIDENT

Victims In Olive Crash Not Yet Identified; 11 Others Injured

Fatalities from traffic accidents so far this year..... 8
Fatalities from traffic accidents same time last year..... 2

Discovery shortly after dawn today of an unidentified man and woman, killed when their light coupe plunged through a bridge railing into Santa Ana canyon sometime during Saturday night, raised the total of Death's traffic victims on Orange county highways thus far in 1936 to eight.

Death was narrowly cheated in six other accidents throughout the county yesterday, in which 11 were injured.

Found by Motorist
The two victims, the man crushed by a bridge timber, and the woman lying a short distance away where she had evidently crawled and bled to death, were found in the dry creek bottom about six miles east of Olive by a passing motorist, who reported the accident at the Orville Knight service station and neglected to identify himself.

Coroner Earl Abbey said this morning that the pair had met death at about 3 a. m. Sunday. Their car had crashed through the side of the bridge and hurtled 16 feet to the creek bottom, where it landed on its top.

Both the victims were Mexican. A partial identification by Coroner Abbey and Highway Patrolman Harry Wild gave the man's name as S. Guerrero, Van Nuys. In the dead woman's purse was found a slip of paper with the name, Jose Olivas, 701 West Maryland, Hawthorne, written on it.

Man's Skull Crushed
One of the timbers in the bridge had crushed the man's skull, and examination revealed a broken neck. The woman had suffered severe cuts, and after crawling to the bridge in an effort to reach the road, had bled to death. She was found slumped over in a semi-sitting position.

The death car was a convertible coupe registered to Max Guerrero, 6201 Kester avenue, Van Nuys. It is believed by police that the dead man is a relative of the car's owner.

Efforts to make a positive identification of the two were being continued this afternoon by Coroner Abbey and police.

Driver Arrested
David J. Wallace, 53, colored, of 1707 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, is in the county jail charged with drunk driving following his arrest Saturday night by California Highway Patrolmen Vernon Barnhill and Don Adams after his car had been involved in a collision at the highway and El Toro (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

8 TRAPPED IN MINE BLAST

Miners Caught One Mile Under Ground When Gas Explodes

LAFAYETTE, Colo., Jan. 20. (AP)—Tons of debris, tumbled by a terrific explosion, trapped eight men today a mile underground in the Monarch coal mine. There was little hope rescue crews can reach them before tomorrow.

Two of 10 miners in the extensive underground workings escaped to the surface through air shafts, but had no hint of the fate that met their fellow workmen.

An anxious crowd had gathered at the mouth of the mine when the first rescue party reached the bottom of a 300-foot vertical shaft and sent back a report "things look terrible."

They said debris blocked the entryways to the underground labyrinth and that it would take hours, possibly more than a day, to clear it.

The imprisoned men, all residents of Louisville or nearby towns, are Foster Nottingham, Ray Bailey, Tom Stevens, Leland Ward, Steve Davis, Louis Jaramillo, Oscar Aird and Tony De Santis. All but Ward are married. Jaramillo and De Santis have six children each.

T. E. Jenkins, mine superintendent, said the explosion probably was caused by gas from a fire that had burned in a remote section of the mine for years.

FARMERS ASK GOVERNMENT ECONOMY

Two-Day Session Opens Here; 5 Resolutions Are Adopted

Farmers of Orange county convened this morning for the first of a two-day session, and plunged immediately into a discussion of state and county tax problems which still claimed their attention at the noon-hour recess.

Five resolutions were adopted by the convention, under the prompting of the tax committee, of which Dian R. Gardner is chairman, during the morning session. Three of these advocated immediate steps toward tax reduction in the state.

Rowland Gives Welcome
The meeting was formally opened by Mayor Fred C. Rowland, who stressed in his welcoming speech the fact that many and varied problems beset agricultural interests as a whole. He urged the county farmers to pull together for a solution of the problems.

President L. A. Bortz then gave the meeting over to Mr. Gardner, after introducing William Eldridge, director from district one of the California Farm Bureau Federation.

Want Tax Economy
The convention adopted one resolution on tax economy, urging every department, bureau and office in the state government to economize its expenditures, and directing the farm bureau research department to undertake a government study with the object of affecting a "sane economy." The resolution further signified the willingness of the farm bureau to take similar orders in agricultural budgets in order to help effect the economy.

D. S. Halliday, chairman of the roads subcommittee, urged a redistribution of the tax load, and a re-allocation of funds.

"It is not final to say that laws govern the expenditure of our money," he said, "and that the state budget can not be changed or lowered because of laws stating how the funds shall be spent. If we can pass laws we can rescind them, too. We need to trim our budget."

Others Back Him Up
His remarks were supplemented by R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the bureau, and Ralph McCauley. Both maintained that the stand of the farm bureau had been and would continue to be for governmental economy in expenditure, even at the loss of some service from the state.

Keynote speech of the morning session was contributed by C. W. Musser, Garden Grove rancher. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

TEN KILLED BY MEXICO STORM

TAMPICO, Mex., Jan. 20. (AP)—Ten members of a fishing boat crew were known to have been drowned and 20 others on two missing boats were feared to have met the same fate today in a severe windstorm on the Gulf of Mexico.

A lone survivor from the fishing smack Acorda said that the craft was overturned by the winds Sunday while nearing the entrance to this port.

Members of the sponsors committee for the affair include Mayor Fred C. Rowland, members of the city council, presidents of all service clubs, editors of the Santa Ana newspapers, and officials of the chamber of commerce.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—California tax returns are exceeding expectations and the $80,000,000 state deficit will be wiped out in about three years "if we do not have another depression," Gov. Frank F. Merriam said today.

The governor said he does not think it will be necessary to call a special session of the legislature to levy additional taxes.

Growers Will Aid In Fight to Save Citrus Pact Here

Assistance of the citrus department of the Orange county farm bureau will be thrown on the side of the California agricultural control act in litigation to test the constitutionality of the law, the board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau decided this morning.

Characterizing the attack launched against the act in Imperial county last week as a phase of the "old battle between shippers and producers," Jack Crill, past president of the farm bureau and prominent citrus grower, urged that the bureau take "full cognizance of the problem, and do everything in its power to support the act."

Following requests of the California Desert Grapefruit defense committee, an Imperial county organization, Superior Judge Emmett Wilson of Los Angeles issued a temporary restraining order Saturday which abrogates enforcement of the act until its legality is finally settled.

Mr. Crill's motion to proffer the support of the Orange county farm bureau to State Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock in the court fight was seconded by William Bielefeldt of Placentia. It was passed unanimously, after an objection by Holmes Bishop of Santa Ana on the grounds that the question should be settled (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

STORM KILLS 161 IN U.S.

Death Toll Mounting Rapidly; 8 Inches Of Snow In N. Y.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20. (AP)—Death reports mounted steadily today in the wake of blizzards in the north-east states, tornadoes in the south-east and high winds on the seas.

At least 161 were known to have perished directly or indirectly as a result of the widespread disturbances. The majority were victims of motor mishaps attributed to poor driving conditions.

Deaths in New Jersey from storm causes were reported at 11. Seven perished in Michigan, one by freezing, four in fires and two in traffic accidents. A dozen deaths were attributed to the weather in metropolitan New York.

The worst snowstorm of the winter put 28,000 men to work digging New York and its suburbs out of eight inches of snow and sleet.

In North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa the temperature fell below zero to the 20s and seven other states recorded sub-zero readings.

The coldest spot was Pembina, N. D., with 35 below. Fergus Falls, Minn., and Aberdeen, S. D., shivered at 29 below.

Clear weather prevailed over most of the south in the wake of week-end storms which claimed more than 25 lives and wrought heavy property damage. Tornadoes killed 17 persons, eight in the vicinity of Chipley, Fla., five at Edison, Ga., and four near Fort Payne, Ala.

Beyond issuance of a previously prepared statement in which the government reiterated its intention of fulfilling its educational program, state authorities took no notice of the reading yesterday in Catholic churches of a pastoral letter, challenging the government's Socialistic education.

DEFICIT MAY BE ENDED SOON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—California tax returns are exceeding expectations and the $80,000,000 state deficit will be wiped out in about three years "if we do not have another depression," Gov. Frank F. Merriam said today.

The governor said he does not think it will be necessary to call a special session of the legislature to levy additional taxes.

STRENGTH OF MONARCH IS FALTERING

Oxygen Administered To Ruler; Queen's Visits Are Cut Short

By CHARLES P. NUTTER
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

SANDRINGHAM, Eng., Jan. 20. Oxygen was administered to the sinking King George V today and his physicians announced his strength to be "diminishing."

A person in close touch with court circles described the King's slow weakening as "a general slowing up of the bodily machine."

This is at least the second time oxygen is known to have been given the King since Friday.

Keep Visits Short
Every effort was being made to conserve the monarch's strength. Even the visits of Queen Mary and other members of the family to his bedside have been kept as short as possible.

The royal duties were taken over some time before the physicians' announcement by a council of state appointed with King George's knowledge. Queen Mary and the four royal sons comprise the council.

A bulletin signed by three physicians announced at 5:30 p. m.: "The condition of the King shows diminishing strength."

One of the members of the new council, the Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, is ill himself with throat trouble.

Remain at Bedside
Physicians remained at the King's bedside throughout the afternoon.

The sovereign's privy council, summoned from London, met in an apartment adjoining the royal sick room and appointed the members of the council of state while the 70-year-old King entered a possibly decisive stage of his sickness.

Government counsel asked dismissal of the suit by Governor K. M. E. of Georgia to wipe out the Burhead cotton act, on the ground that the suit was really against the government, and the government could not be sued without its consent.

CALL TROOPS IN STRIKE

Rocks, Knives Used In Battle; Martial Law Is Declared

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Jan. 20. (AP)—A clash between striking shirt makers and non-union workers today at the factory of M. Fine & Sons resulted in the declaration of martial law in two southern Indiana counties by Gov. P. V. McNutt.

Indiana national guardsmen were ordered into Floyd and Clark counties to preserve order under the Fine factories at New Albany and Jeffersonville.

The order for the troops followed a clash this morning at the Fine plant in this city in which several women were injured slightly. Plant officials decided to abandon efforts to reopen immediately the plant, which has been closed 14 weeks following a wage dispute.

Rocks were hurled and knives drawn when 30 non-union workers, most of them women, attempted to enter the plant this morning.

AAA SUBSTITUTE NEARS HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Chairman Jones, Democrat, Texas, of the House agriculture committee plans to introduce a bill broadening the soil erosion act and embracing a domestic allotment plan as a temporary substitute for the invalidated AAA.

The domestic allotment plan is designed to pay farmers a premium of the domestically consumed portion of their crops. Jones did not say his bill was the administration measure. In reply to questions, he said, "We have had conference on our plans."

"We congratulate you on your fine showing and we appreciate your broad-minded attitude," said Lynn Crawford, principal of the Polytechnic High school.

All daily newspapers, both large and small, were eligible to compete for the prize. This is the time a newspaper as young as The Journal has won the award. In 1934 it was won by the San Diego Sun, in 1933 by the Santa Rosa Press Democrat, and in 1932 by the Oakland Tribune.

VERRIDE OF F. D. R. VETO PREDICTED

Leaders Declare Plan Will Become Law; House To Act

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—Full payment of the soldiers' bonus was voted by the senate today by a smashing 74 to 16 majority—far more than the two-thirds needed to override presidential vetoes.

The ultimate cost of the payment bill to the government was estimated at $2,491,000,000. Veterans' organizations conceded the immediate outlay would be only $1,000,000,000.

The bill goes to the house where speedy acceptance was forecast. Whether or not President Roosevelt will sign the measure was unknown, but leaders freely predicted it would become law anyway.

The senate majority today and the six-to-one vote by which the house voted full payment a week ago apparently bore out that forecast.

The house was expected to accept the senate bond payment plan in place of the bill it passed a week ago providing for full payment of the 1945 maturity value of the bonus certificates held by 3,500,000 veterans, but authorizing the payment in checks.

The senate bill, introduced by Senators Harrison (D. Miss.), Byrnes (D. S. C.), Stewer R. Ore., and Clark (D. Mo.), would discharge the entire veterans debt nine years in advance in blocks of $50 non-negotiable bonds.

Reject Inflation
Two efforts to force payment in new money were rejected.

The bonds to be issued would be non-transferable but redeemable for cash at any time after June 15 next at local postoffices. Veterans would have the option of holding them as investments, with interest at 3 per cent, until 1945.

The vote on final passage was 74 to 16.

The bill authorizes appropriation of the necessary funds, estimated at $2,237,000,000. It also makes available the bonds convertible into cash in the adjusted service certificate fund—$254,000,000—making a total ultimate cost of $2,491,000,000.

"Immediate Cost"
Administration and veteran organizations leaders contend the immediate demands on the treasury will not exceed $1,000,000,000. They based this on the belief that thousands of veterans will not cash the bonds right away.

Prior to the final ballot, the senate for a second time voted down a proposal to pay the bonus in new currency.

Offered by Senator Neely (D. W. Va.), the amendment would have provided the same method of payment as the vetoed Patman bill in non-interest bearing United States notes. It was rejected, 65 to 23.

A similar proposal by Senator Thomas (D. Okla.) was beaten Saturday, 64 to 27.

Neely said the bond bill would cost the taxpayers more than a billion dollars additional in interest. Thomas Supported it, saying the pending bill merely authorized the needed funds and another bill would be necessary later appropriating the money.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, said he preferred payment in new currency, but opposed the amendment because he realized it had no chance of becoming law, while the bond bill did.

Earlier, the senate rejected the King amendment to provide for payment only the present surrender value of the certificates.

The amendment, according to its author, Senator King, Democrat, Utah, would have cost the government more than $1,000,000,000 less than the coalition bill's estimated ultimate cost of $2,491,000,000.

Journal Wins Praise for Award

Santa Ana civic leaders today were showering congratulations on The Journal for its winning of the trophy for the best editorial page among newspapers of this state.

The Journal's editorial page of Sept. 9 was adjudged best in competition with 350 other newspapers. Today The Journal was in possession of a silver cup awarded by the state chamber of commerce.

Mr. Stephenson was formerly managing editor of the Register. That newspaper about 10 years ago won the same prize while J. P.

"I think it is a fine thing for a paper as young as The Journal to win such a distinction," said Allison Honer, commander of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion. "I wish to congratulate you."

The Rev. Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, said: "I was mighty happy with The Journal to see its success, and I offer my hearty congratulations."

"It is a real distinction for a city's intellectual life for an honor of this sort to come to it," said Frank Henderson, superintendent of schools. "I read the news with real pleasure."

"Winning in competition with 350 other papers is a real victory," said W. H. Spurgeon, president of

ETHIOPIANS CLAIM BOTH MAKALE AND AKSUM ARE SURROUNDED

QUIZ TURNED DOWN BY LEAGUE

Committee Decides Not To Send Investigators To East Africa

By ALBERT W. WILSON
ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 20.—Official and unofficial announcements of Ethiopian military successes against Italians and rebels were made through government officials today.

One high source stated that both Makale and Aksum, key points of the Italian northern front, were virtually surrounded by thousands of Ethiopian troops. A communique announced that the rebels of Gojjam province, under Dedjazmach Gasasa, had been defeated in a battle two miles from Debra Markos.

Unconfirmed reports said the holy city of Aksum, occupied by the Fascist invaders early in the three and a half months of campaign, was already partly re-taken.

Ras Ayaie, one of the Ethiopian chieftains on the northern front, previously had been reported only 30 miles from Aksum. Informed sources said, however, that because Ayaie was a former bandit, he would not be permitted the honor of being the first to enter the holy city in a re-occupation.

LEAGUE REFUSES TO SEND INVESTIGATORS

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
GENEVA, Jan. 20.—The League of Nations committee of 13 decided today the questions of sending a commission of inquiry to Ethiopia and financial assistance for that nation were not opportune and were, furthermore, outside the competency of the committee. Both questions had been raised by Emperor Haile Selassie. He had asked for the commission to determine whether Italy or Ethiopia was really responsible for the present war in East Africa. He also had asked for financial support.

No Peace Offers
It was also indicated that while the committee was ready to exercise its good offices for conciliation, no proposals were before it at the present time.

Premier Mussolini of Italy sent a telegram to Max Huber, of the International Red Cross, announcing that Italy hoped a Red Cross committee would be sent to the war zone to determine if and how the regulations of the Red Cross convention were being observed.

Mussolini denounced the Ethiopian troops as violating the Geneva and Red Cross convention "by horrible atrocities upon the dead and wounded Italian prisoners in defiance of the elementary principles of civilization and humanity."

Probers May Go
While the committee of 13 did not approve of sending a commission to Ethiopia, it was believed by many observers that in view of Mussolini's telegram, some kind of a Red Cross committee may go to Ethiopia, in a long communication to Geneva, demanded more positive aid from the league in her war with Italy.

Officials, after a hurried examination of the note, said it did not request military sanctions against Italy, but did insist upon stronger sanctions to hasten the end of the conflict.

Dr. Augusto Vasconcellos, Portuguese, said he would convoke the sanctions committee of 18, probably tomorrow, to examine the general sanctions situation.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Premier Mussolini's Geneva representative, who was absent from the last special session, occupied his chair at the opening of today's session.

F.D.R. SPEECH HINTS BONUS

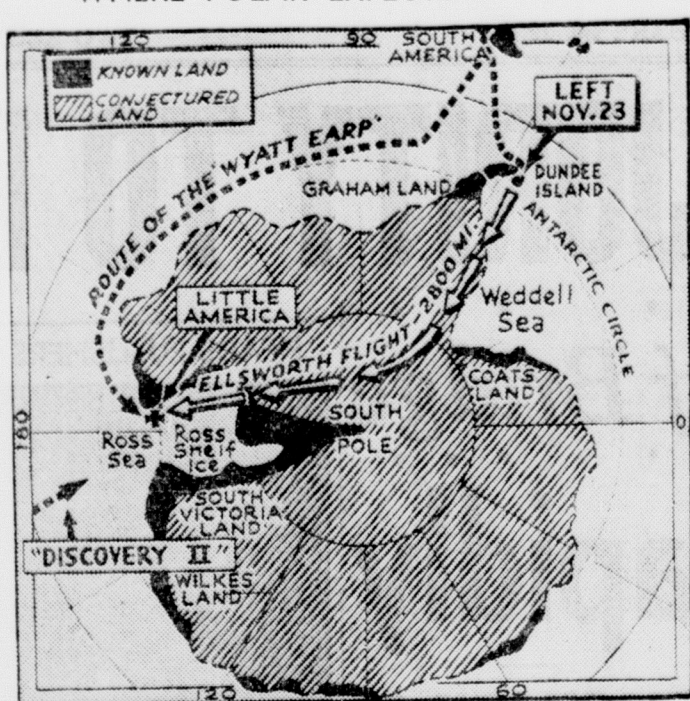

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A reference in President Roosevelt's address dedicating a $35,000,000 memorial to his cousin, the late Theodore Roosevelt, was studied today for its possible bearing on the soldiers' bonus legislation before congress.

Paying tribute yesterday to the former President's efforts to further social justice, Mr. Roosevelt quoted from a Fourth of July speech by his relative:

"A man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to be given a square deal afterward. More than that no man is entitled to, and less than that no man shall have."

The dedicatory services during which the memorial was dedicated, became a section of the American Museum of Natural History, drew an assemblage of prominent officials, Gov. Herbert Lehman, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, the former President's son, and Dr. James R. Garfield, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Commission, also spoke.

The federal agreement is being operated upon the belief of the department of agriculture that it is constitutional. If it is constitutional, said Mr. Wahlberg, he sees no ultimate difficulty as to legality of the state law.

Judge Wilson's order restrains enforcement of the intra-state control of California oranges and grapefruit started Jan. 14 by the state director of agriculture. If the California law finally is declared unconstitutional, the industry will have to return to the more or less disorganized marketing conditions of the past, with sometimes heavy and sometimes light shipments and consequent price fluctuations, Mr. Wahlberg said.

Case in Court Now
A. J. McFadden, chairman of the California prorate commission, said today that a case involving the fate of the California prorate law is now before the supreme court and a decision may be forthcoming in 40 or 50 days. He expressed the belief that the supreme court's ruling in this case will be final in its effect upon the agricultural control act also. They both will stand or fall by the same decision, he said.

The restraining order forbids the setting of any prorates under the California act pending a hearing Jan. 27 at which it will be decided whether a permanent injunction will be issued.

Approval Delayed
In respect to the California-Arizona citrus marketing agreement, E. L. Markell of the AAA at Berkeley, said today that approval by the secretary of agriculture of the prorate established under the marketing agreement has been delayed because of failure to receive necessary applications for allotments from all shippers. A special drive is being made to round up these applications by tomorrow. It is expected that approval of the prorate for the week of Jan. 26 can then be made by the secretary of agriculture in accordance with the new order. The old license will remain in effect until procedure under the new order has been put into operation.

Continued confidence in the federal marketing agreement idea was seen today when it was announced that a proposed marketing agreement regulating shipment of fresh California deciduous fruits except apples has just been forwarded to Washington. A request was made for a public hearing on the proposed agreement.

who drew a genuine round of applause for his impassioned expose of "ridiculous overlapping of these government expenditures."

Other Resolutions
The group also adopted a resolution requesting the American Farm Bureau Federation and all state farm bureaus to cooperate in an effort to "coordinate the functions and tax systems of the different units of government, to the end that unwarranted functions will be discontinued, that services will be performed by the units of government best adapted, and needed most complexly, inequality, overlapping, and cost of administration will be eliminated from our tax system, Federal, state and local."

The three other resolutions adopted called for a flat opposition to any ad valorem tax by the state, on the grounds that it was overworked and best adapted to the needs of local government rather than state; call for requests of the governor and department of natural resources to establish a practical policy in the location of roads and highways, and curtailment of the powers of eminent domain in accordance with the policy; and ask for a study of a possible state police system, on the grounds that present policing methods gave inadequate protection to farm properties, especially in Orange county, where easy access to rich farm properties is available.

Highway Program
The establishment of a consistent highway program was urged for this county as a result of steps being taken by the highway department to widen many roads here. It was felt that widening of Tustin boulevard, particularly, probably would result in the destruction of the windbreak along the west side of the road, with resultant damages to farm property.

This afternoon's session was devoted to a further study of the taxation problem and the consideration of further resolutions in that respect, after which problems of the citrus, walnut and water departments of the bureau were to be considered in that order.

Litigation over the California agricultural control act and its effects on the industry in Orange county, and the problem of underground water rights in this and Riverside and San Bernardino counties were among the important matters to be discussed.

The session was opened with community singing under the direction of Frank Pierce, and two musical numbers by Joe Cozina, Foothill farm center. Wesley Morgan accompanied.

CRASH QUIZ TO BE REOPENED

Prince of Wales, the Dukes of York, Gloucester and Kent.

The royal prerogatives thus all remain within the hands of the members of the royal family.

The appointment of the council departed from the procedure of two previous instances during the king's reign when members of the cabinet have been named together with the queen and others of the king's family.

Arrive by Plane
The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York were in attendance at Sandringham today. They arrived by airplane from London, landing at an airport eight miles away and driving to Sandringham House immediately.

To attend the privy council session, Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council, and other members had come from London this morning.

Suffers No Pain
It was learned authoritatively that the monarch slept several hours during the night and that despite a grave heart weakness, arising from a sudden, severe cold and bronchial catarrh, he suffered no pain.

Medical authorities, looking for a possible crisis tonight, expected the warmer weather today to assist in clearing up the catarrhal condition.

DEATH TAKES MISS DOLPH AT BEACH

Miss Blanche Dolph, 87, Laguna resident for more than 40 years, died at her Dana Point estate Saturday.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock at the home under direction of Divel's Funeral home, San Clemente. The Rev. E. I. Graham of Laguna officiated. Burial was to be in Fairhaven cemetery.

She is survived by her sister, Miss Florence Dolph, Los Angeles, with whom she owned extensive acreage at the beach site. They are part owners of Aliso canyon, adjoining Wood canyon. Recently they donated grounds to the Girl Scouts of Laguna.

Other heirs to the estate reside in the East.

PRISON SITES INSPECTED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A suitable location for a $6,000,000 junior prison in Southern California engaged the attention today of a state commission headed by Arlin E. Stockburger, director of finance.

Seventy-five sites have been proposed and Feb. 1 has been fixed by Stockburger as the deadline for submission of the others. Meeting with him here today are the wardens of San Quentin and Folsom prisons, Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield, Edward Craig, speaker of the assembly; T. N. Harvey, president of the prison board, and Peter Hanson, appraisal expert.

SCIENCE CHURCH TOPIC IS "LIFE"

The words from John's first epistle, "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his son," were the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon were these verses from the Psalms: "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid? . . . I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living." The Lesson-Sermon presents also these verses from Matthew about Christ Jesus: "And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God; but, if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me,' which may be rendered: 'Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal; thou shalt not know evil, for there is one Life,—even God, good.'"

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

ATE MY way through a real old-fashioned barbecue Saturday at San Juan Hot Springs, up on the Ortega highway, above San Juan Capistrano.

F. W. Rogers, head of the local American Fruit Growers' plant, had threatened to barbecue a cow or so for his growers, and he certainly did that—and more. Just in case everyone wasn't satisfied, he threw in a couple of lambs, too.

Here's the way that dinner went: First, there were mounds of potato salad and buns, pickles and cheese. Just warm up appetites. Then employees of the packing house brought around heaps of real Spanish beans and great slabs of the barbecued lamb and beef. I thought I was eating along with the real h-men of the crowd when I finished that first platter, but that, apparently, was only the first course, because plates were filled again, and everyone ate his way through additional piles and heaps of food.

You know how one feels on Thanksgiving, when you bulge everywhere and still keep on eating? That's the way folks did at that meal Saturday—and, I noticed, folks weren't foolishly polite, as they would have been at some other places. They grabbed the huge bones and gnawed 'em.

Seen gnawing: Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Roseman, Dana Pointers; D. J. McHenry, Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rosenbaum, ranchers; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Montague, he's manager of the vegetable department at the packing house in Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Barnes—more ranchers; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Brown—still more ranchers; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Buchheim, Doheny Park; Mr. and Mrs. John O. Forster, prominent Capistrano; also Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Forster and Mr. and Mrs. Buddie Forster; Dr. and Mrs. Herb Stroschein and Mrs. F. K. Stroschein and Mrs. Ruth Stewart; Judge John Landell, who claimed he was on a diet, but did pretty well, anyway; Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Kelly—he runs the hot springs; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crumrine, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Maxwell, George Corbett, lots of others, too, because 200 attended.

One of the head gnawers was H. S. "Dad" Hazeltine, a local leader, who seemed to rank right along with the best of 'em in the eating. His idea of a program was fine, too. No speeches. Just introductions.

Most amusing part of the afternoon's fun was dog owners and their waiting pooches. Mrs. William Maxwell, wife of the Capistrano publisher, snagged a choice morsel for their huge police dog. It must have weighed as much as he dog.

Would seem that congratulations are in order for Frank Rosap, Placentia publisher. Frank walked right in to the job of president of the California Newspaper Publisher's association at the annual meeting in Santa Monica Saturday.

It's a big job, and Frank'll have his hands full for a year. But we'll congratulate him, anyway. And we noticed that our new boss, Braden Finch, landed on the advisory council. Orange county didn't do badly at all, huh?

Wonderings: How're the Midway City fishermen doing along with their new fish haul? Last we heard they were putting in a tile-floored bathroom... What's happened to Orange's new armory building? They were going to ask for property offers from residents, so they could get started on the structure... Also, how's Manchester avenue coming along? The road's finished out to Highway 101, but there's a stretch unfinished between Lincoln avenue in Anaheim and the state highway. We've a bet with ourselves as to the number of accidents at the intersection on the first day the new highway's opened... And, "Colonel" George Reid, Anaheim C. of C. secretary, was threatening to stage a celebration observing opening of the highway. How about it, Colonel? How's the low flying airplane situation in Costa Mesa? Haven't heard of any ships landing in front parlors lately. Maybe the fliers have heard of threats of an inverted zoning ordinance down there... You wonder for awhile. We're tired.

Picnickers in Irvine park this spring and summer are going to find arrangements much better than in past years. New barbecue arrangements, new stoves, and the park being plowed up and put in shape for a big rush. Lots of traffic yesterday, too. Seemed like everyone in the county, including Clyde Simmons, Yorba Linda Star editor, decided to go to the park.

An authoritative review of the world's coffee situation was circulated at Rio de Janeiro recently showing Brazil produced in the 1934-35 crop year 16,209,000 sacks out of a world total of 26,755,000 sacks.

COAST ASSOCIATION ELECTION SLATED AT H.B. TOMORROW

POLLUTION OF BEACHES TO BE TOPIC

Visitors From San Diego Expected At Monthly Session Of Group

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Election of officers for 1936 will feature a meeting of the Orange County Coast Association, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Golden Bear cafe, according to Dan Mulherson, president.

T. B. Talbert, mayor of Huntington Beach, heads a committee on nominations, which will report at the meeting, it has been announced by Harry Welch, secretary. Officers to be filled are president, now held by Mr. Mulherson, now held by C. E. C. Burnett, Laguna Beach; second vice-president, Elmer Hughes, Seal Beach and third vice-president, H. L. Sherman, Balboa.

Guests from San Diego expected at the meeting are Frank G. Forward, president at the San Diego County Development Federation; W. T. Hart, member of the California State Park commission; Fred W. Mitchell, editor, Carlsbad Journal and Edgar Hastings, chairman of the board of supervisors, San Diego county.

Dr. Floyd I. Bee, with president of the California Beaches association, will also attend the meeting. It has been announced by Mr. Welch. A report from the Beaches Co-ordination committee relating to pollution of beaches by oil will be given at the meeting.

Coast L-i-n-e-s

By McDONALD WHITE

"Chico," Doc Mallow's little curly-haired black spaniel, who was forced to move across the street into the new quarters recently, has finally resigned himself to the inevitable onslaught of progress. He still looks longingly over to his old corner as if he were, like many of his human cronies, dreaming about the good old days in Laguna. Good old days when isolation was supreme and the constable went to bed early and slept late so as not to cramp anybody's style. The good old days when city affairs, if any, were transacted on the street corner, and the roads were laden with honest mud. Oh, well, strike up the band, the boom has come again!

While on that subject, considerable speculation is in the air concerning the old Bishop building and, particularly, one vacant corner where L. F. Mallow operated his drug store for so many years. There is some talk of remodeling the whole building, including Carpenter's and Smith's. And still more to the effect that only a new front will be constructed. But, according to persistent rumors that have come from insiders, the Bank of America has been looking over the location with more than an acquisitive eye. A few years ago a group of men attempted to start up a new bank here, but with no success because the charter did not meet with the required specifications. Yet it is inconceivable that such an objection could be found against a branch of an established banking firm. Anyway, if not well-founded, whatever happens to this corner in the near future is bound to result in a better looking mid-city.

Random thoughts: The "sub-police station" has also moved across the street. On gray days the ocean always looks more mysterious. There's no horizon. What we can't see we always wonder about. Maybe that's the idea... Observe that the Old Men's club is more active than ever these days, perhaps due to the construction of a new lounge court now in progress. Also notice that some of the men are by no means "old".

Have you noticed the new road and terraces below Cliff drive? They say it's a WPA project. Whatever it is, it's an improvement. Some more and more out-of-state cars in Laguna. It must mean something or other. Have to ask the chamber of commerce. He's Capt. Portus, you know... Spotted in a businesslike huddle. Building Owner A. R. Bishop, chatting earnestly with Architect Manfred De Anna. Yes, sir, it looks like something's afoot.

Then there's the story about Artist Frank Cuprien and the Swede. According to Frank, this one was the first beggar to land at his doorstep. But the story goes like this: Frank was busy when the first knock sounded at the door. By the time he got around to answering the summons a big blond Swede, had just turned to go.

"Hey, you!" called Frank. "What do you want?" The man swung about, visibly impressed with Frank's white beard. "Oh," he said, "I was wanting something to eat."

"Well, that's odd," said Frank. "You're the first man ever to come to my door asking for food. Tell me, why did you stop here?" "I tell you," the Swede answered. "It was that Viking ship you got hanging up there. So I thought you must be a pretty good fellow."

"Right you are," exclaimed

SPEAKER PREDICTS HIGHER CITRUS PRICES IN 1936

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Predictions of higher citrus prices and better crops during 1936 were heard by 200 growers and friends of American Fruit Growers at the annual barbecue of the local house, held Saturday at San Juan Hot Springs.

H. S. "Dad" Hazeltine, head of the California citrus marketing organization, spoke briefly, pointing out that the local house will be doubled in size when work now being done on the building is completed. "In my opinion, I can see better prices for the coming year," he said. "Crops are much lighter in California and Florida and greater purchasing power is already in evidence throughout the country."

Shipments from the local house in 1935 neared the 400-car mark, Mr. Hazeltine said, and are expected to be much greater during the coming year. Introduced at the afternoon barbecue were John O. Forster, local pioneer; F. W. Rogers, local house manager; Howard Whitney, publicity manager for the organization; O. W. Schlusener, general sales manager; Romer Johnson, citrus sales manager; E. J. Chapman, purchasing department; Homer C. Poore, general field superintendent; H. B. Montague, manager of the vegetable department at Capistrano; Guy Miles, general superintendent of the vegetable department.

Harold Cady, Uplands and Alta Loma house manager; Harry Elfrick, traffic manager; Bob Emery, chief inspector; R. F. Hopkins, and Ralph Garl, Highlands; Bill Schuerman, vegetable department; Ray Valentine, manager of the packing house at Orange, and Raymond Crane, assistant citrus sales manager.

Barbecue cooks were Dolores Yorba, Bill Olivares, Albert Pompa, O. Manriquez, Maurice Isch, Reg Nicolas and Fred Stroschein. House cooks were Joe Aguilar, Joe Avila and Pecan Aguilar. In charge of the tables were Queen Errearte, Pete Errearte, Dominic Luc, George Avila, Lizzie Nibbles, Nettie Aguilera, Ruth Stroschein, Mrs. Ernest Cady, Mrs. Amastoy, Mrs. Carrillo, Myrtle Combs, Laura Combs, Georgia Sepulveda, Louise Manriquez and Mrs. John Horrell.

LAGUNA BEACH.—B. D. Peterson, 70, pioneer resident of Laguna, died Saturday at his home, 434 Astor street. Born in Burlington, Vt., Mr. Peterson was active in the wholesale lumber business in Boston, Mass., before moving to California 20 years ago. He is survived by his wife, Alice F. Peterson and daughter, Doris C. Lailor, both of Laguna Beach, and a son, Harry R. Peterson, Long Beach. Funeral services will be held at the Laguna Beach mortuary Tuesday morning.

PARTY HELD IN CAPISTRANO HOME Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reed were hosts Saturday night at a bunco party, at their home on Mission hill.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Crumrine, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Prenter, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Harby, Mrs. Ruth Stewart, Earle Tingley, Mr. and Mrs. William Bathgate, Mr. and Mrs. Sim Bathgate, and Miss Charlotte Reed, who assisted her mother as co-hostess. Mr. Maxwell was awarded first prize.

"Santa Claus" diving into his pants pocket with a gesture of profound approval. "And I guess that's worth at least a quarter!" All of which proves the value of art appreciation.

Now for Capt. A. E. "Whaling Augustus" Folger, 84, who revealed a lot of things we didn't know about whales up at the high school auditorium recently. "Twenty-five men can stand up in a whale's mouth, but you can't get your fist down his throat."

That's what the captain said, and he ought to know, having been thrown out of a boat 64 times by these biggest of all animals. He also said that a whale never spouts water. What do you think of that? Ask the rest of the family what a whale spouts—and then fool 'em. Nine out of ten—gosh that's a big family—will say water. You tell 'em—it's steam! It's what the whale exhales when coming to the surface for a fresh breath.

Oh, yes, an average whale's tongue weighs from 3,200 to 4,200 pounds.

"And it's a good thing your teachers don't have tongues that big," said Captain Folger, with a sly wink.

Next time a story about four burros, the largest turtle in the world, a yacht and the ambitions of a millionaire.

LAGUNA BEACH.—The First Federal Loan association of Laguna Beach held a business meeting last Friday night to elect a board of directors for the coming year, according to Andrew S. Hall, secretary and manager.

Last year's board was reelected with L. F. Mallow, president; Ajax Wolf, E. C. Peterson, Joe Jahraus, H. G. Heisler, Dr. B. E. Mason and Mr. Hall comprise the board of directors.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—The state forestry fire truck stationed at San Juan Capistrano was summoned to fight a grass blaze on the Oyharzabal property in the river bottom between the mission city and Dohney Park Saturday. The fire started in the early afternoon and got out of control in the evening. No serious damage was done.

FORMER SEATTLE MAYOR VISITS AT SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE.—Albert Fitzgerald, former mayor of Seattle, is spending several weeks here. He is a devout golfer, and is spending much of his time on the municipal links. Saturday and Sunday, Thomas F. Murphy, sr., Los Angeles, visited Mr. Fitzgerald.

QUAIL DINNER IS HELD IN HOME AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—Celebrating a successful hunting trip to the Mexican border last week-end, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor and sons, Dean and John, entertained at a quail dinner recently. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Neil, and Marian and Jean Neil, Sunset Beach.

ORANGE HOME IS SCENE OF PARTY

ORANGE.—Miss Helen Haines was hostess at a Sunday evening party at her home on Lester drive when several young people attended services at the Presbyterian church, and then went to her home for a taffy pull.

Present were Elizabeth Welch, Helen Talbert, Mabel Willis, Bob Clifford, Herschel Willy, Bill Field, Wayne Smith, Bob Baines, Thomas Powell and Donald Haines.

A sight-seeing plane service at Palm Beach, Fla., charges one-half cent per pound per passenger.

TAX RELIEF IS THEME AT LAGUNA REALTY SESSION

LAGUNA BEACH.—Building up the California Real Estate association through cooperation of local boards and property owners in a concerted effort to relieve taxation levied upon real property was the keynote of talks at the Laguna Beach Realty board meeting held Saturday noon at the White House cafe.

Charles B. Shattuck, president of the California Real Estate association, installed officers of the local board, including John R. Talbert, president; Mrs. Agnes West, vice president and David Prenter, secretary.

Perry McCullough, retiring president, introduced guests, and later the incoming president took the gavel and outlined a tentative program for the year. Glenn D.

Willaman, secretary and manager of the state association, spoke of the accomplishments, aims and plans of the organization.

Mr. Shattuck pointed out benefits to be derived from membership in local boards and the California Real Estate association, and showed how all property owners can be helped through the association's influence. He demonstrated value of the sales tax, without which the taxation burden upon real estate, he said, would be unbearable for the next 10 years or more.

Other speakers were W. F. Croddy, district vice president of the state association; Roy W. Peacock, representing the local board as director in the California Real Estate association; A. E. Marshall and Mr. Prenter.

BOOK SECTION SCOUTS TO END HEARS REVIEW SEA VOYAGE

GARDEN GROVE.—"North to the Orient," by Ann Lindbergh, was the book chosen by Mrs. H. D. Newkirk of Anaheim for a review for the Booklovers' section of the Woman's Civic club of Garden Grove at a meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Leo Zaklet, East Acacia street. Mrs. E. G. Invite These Pets Into Your Home

Mischievous but oh, so cute!—these bull terrier puppies (four in all) make delightful subjects to embroider on pillow tops or to frame as pictures. You'll find they can be done singly, or arranged in cunning groups, using single stitch which works up very quickly. Illustrations of various group arrangements are given. Their completed likenesses will look surprisingly like an etching if done in one color. In pattern 5511 you will find a transfer pattern of four dogs averaging 6 1/2 x 7 inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif.

Remarkable Remarks

In Sports World

Reading from top to bottom, today we present a few pertinent observations on sports and by sports.

You can pick out for yourself those that deserve razzberries. Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, "Any boy who carries the fight to Louis can beat him. And Max Schmeling can do that." Our answer to that is that if Max should carry the fight to Louis, Max will be promptly carried to a nice, soft bed.

James J. Braddock, world heavyweight boxing champion: "Sure I can whip Louis and I'm looking forward to meeting him. That Retzlaff thing was not fight."

Joe Louis: "I've been training steadily for 18 months and I think a rest will do me good. I'll do no more fighting until I lick Schmeling next summer."

Charley Retzlaff: "I'd like to fight Louis again, because I think I can do better. But I don't suppose I'll get the chance." Right you are, Charlie.

Joel Hildebrand, coach of the American Olympic ski team, now in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany: "We are being treated with utmost courtesy. We have found the arrangements satisfactory in every way. What's happened to all the anti-Olympic games kickers in the U. S. A.?"

Tige Clinton, press agent for Sam Sampson's razzing ruckus: "I don't like to talk big, but tonight's card looks like the best we've ever had." Tige may be right at that, with Szabo, Garibaldi, Dick Daviscourt and Freeman all lined up.

Jim Detrixhe, commissioner for the Santa Ana night ball team: "You can say that we're looking for some new material for the Stars. We're going to beach Huntington Beach next season at any cost."

Sam Sampson, the genial boxing and wrestling impresario of Orange county: "Oliver and Had McCarter (they're famous in these parts) will be ready to start boxing for us early in February." The McCarter boys' father is training the kids and doesn't want them to go until they are ready.

Lupe Cordova, featherweight boxer and idol of local amateur fight fans: "The Golden Gloves tourney in Los Angeles is the bunk compared to the Catholic Youth tourney in San Francisco. The Golden Gloves bouts are all fixed and no matter how good a guy fights they give the decision to whoever they want to win." Lupe, who won the C. Y. O. tourney last week but who lost the Golden Gloves title on a close decision, is preparing for the U. S. Olympic boxing team.

A lady who reads all about the Santa Anita horse races but has never seen one: "Do they have eight races every day? You'd think those horses would get tired running that many races every day." She felt better about the thing when someone told her the nags rested on Sunday.

'BITSY' GRANT WINS TOURNEY

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 20. (AP)—Bryan M. (Betsy) Grant, Jr., third ranking national player from Atlanta, today held the annual Dixie tennis title along with a large measure of satisfaction. Grant won the championship yesterday by trouncing Martin Buxby, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5, ending a week of play which saw the upsets upset. Those two surprises, Floridians Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, and Charles Harris, West Palm Beach, were unable to evoke their giant-killing thunder and were stranded in the semifinals.

AZUCAR AGAIN BECOMES BIG SANTA ANITA THREAT

SANTA ANITA RACE TRACK, Jan. 20.—Azucar, the big surprise horse of last year's Santa Anita season, has thrust himself back into the top ratings for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap on Feb. 22.

Surprising the wage placers, Azucar came in first in the San Felipe handicap Saturday with 115 pounds up and paid $48. Fans were noting today that he has only three more pounds to pack in the big race.

A. G. Vanderbilt's mighty Discovery, the Brookmeade stable's Cavalade, Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Head Play, and C. P. Palmer's Flamenco have been given top ratings over Azucar.

Discovery, whose best workout to date over the mile was 1 minute 57.4 seconds, must carry 130 pounds in the big race.

JAPANESE QUARTERBACK

A JAPANESE boy may be quarterback at the University of Washington next fall. Harry Yamaguchi, former Seattle high school center, was converted into a capable signal-caller on Washington's frosh squad last autumn. A "perfect blocker," he scales 170, stands 5 feet 8 and is 18 years old.

SZABO BATTLES DAVIS COURT TONIGHT

Dons Lose Erdhaus, Bow To Bengal Squad, 38-24

STAR CENTER INJURED AT RIVERSIDE

By PAUL WRIGHT

Crediting defeat to the unexpected misfortune of losing their high-scoring center, Fred Erdhaus, with an eye injury in the first half, Santa Ana's Dons looked ahead to future Eastern conference assignments today while trying to forget a basketball beating at Riverside, 38-24, Saturday night.

Erdhaus was jabbed in the left eye by Merle Harris, Bengal forward, when Towering Fred leaped under the Riverside basket mid-way in the first half. He fell to the floor, and was escorted to the bench, where he spent the rest of the evening with an aching head, wrapped in a cold towel.

Fortunately for the Dons, they face no conference opposition this week. Coach Al Reboin having succeeded several days ago in postponing the all-important brush with Fullerton to Feb. 29. Erdhaus' basketball eye will have ample time to heal before the junior collegians resume league play with Chaffey here a week from Saturday.

Lockhart Shines

Headed for all-conference recognition, Guard Leonard Lockhart of the Reboin quintet uncorked some more of those long, looping shots that chalked up nine of Santa Ana's 24 points. Bounced on personal fouls with four minutes to go, Lockhart's absence was keenly felt when the Bengals closed with their customary rush against Santa Ana's patched lineup.

Bob Browning, gangling ex-Saint, filled in admirably for Erdhaus at center, but the Dons had no adequate reserve strength to afford battling Bob a much-needed rest.

Santa Ana figured in a businesslike start, cashed in on five of eight fouls inflicted on Riverside, and at an early interval was leading Brother Bengal, 10 to 2. Riverside retaliated with field goals by Peterson and Wheaton, and the struggling fives were deadlocked 13-13 at half time.

Closed With Rush

Southpaw Harry Stanley gave Santa Ana the lead, 15-13, going into the final 20-minute period, but Guard Caldwell tied the count with a set-up, and the fleet Harris pushed in a short one, 15-17, to give Riverside command that proved permanent. The tiring Dons made a ball game of it until the last seven minutes, when the Bengals, accustomed to their spacious floor, rallied against Santa Ana's weak guard to pepper the rim with short-range shots. Gradually they pulled away, 21-25, 21-26, 22-26, 22-27, 22-29. Tommy Lacy of the Dons sank a field goal while Riverside continued on toward the final count of 38-24.

The lineup:

Riverside (38)	Pos.	(24) Santa Ana
Boomer	F	(3) Stanley
Nelson	C	(2) Harris
Wheaton	G	(4) Erdhaus
Gould	G	(5) Lockhart

Santa Anita Fans Bet Double Last Year's Amount

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—Betting on the horse races at Santa Anita park so far this season is more than double the amount at the same time last year.

A total of $7,936,056 was wagered on the ponies during the first 22 days. Last year $3,490,711 was bet in the first 22 days.

Daily "handle" at the track this year averages $360,702. The average in 1935 was $158,668 a day.

San Bernardino, 29; Chaffey, 27.

Drawing a bye in the Eastern conference this week, Al Reboin's Santa Ana Dons travel to Oceanside for a return engagement with Blanchard Beatty's Spartans tomorrow night. They will win the first game, 24-18, last night.

Fullerton easily whacked Pomona, 33-27, and San Bernardino upset Chaffey, 29-27, in conference play Saturday night, while the Santa Anas were losing at Riverside, 38-24, without their regular center, Fred Erdhaus.

PRO FOOTBALL WAR NEARS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—The Detroit Lions snapped into a week of heavy practice today for a renewal of their professional football war with the Green Bay Packers.

The two teams, easy winners in a barnstorming tour along the West Coast, meet next Sunday in Glendale stadium. The Lions won the national pro championship, but dropped two out of three games to the colorful Packers from Wisconsin last fall.

Capt. Dutch Clark, former all-America back from Colorado College, led his mates to a 42-to-7 victory yesterday over a local all-star outfit, while the Packers were polishing off a similar squad in San Francisco.

Cal Clemens, former University of Southern California back, intercepted a Lion pass to dash off for the lone all-star tally, and Clark, Glenn Presnell, Ace Gutowsky, Ernie Caddell, Bill Shepherd and Harry Eldred scored for the invaders.

A heated ruckus in the last quarter halted play momentarily. O. K. Emerson, Lion guard, and Kermit Klitzke, opposing lineman, were banished from the game. When a second disturbance occurred, Coach "Potsy" Clark of Detroit sent in several replacements to ward off real trouble.

LOCAL FANS TO SEE JEFFRIES

Anticipating a "boom" in the box-fight business, Promoter Sampson of the Orange County Athletic club today announced that he had completed arrangements for his next three boxing shows with the tentative signing of "Wild Bill" Boyd, Navy heavyweight sensation and the appearance of James J. Jeffries, former world heavyweight champion.

Boyd has virtually agreed to come here to headline Sampson's Jan. 31 show while Jeffries will bring a stable of boxers here Feb. 7.

The Sherman Indians, under the supervision of Coach Harvey Harris, will return to the 101 H. way arena next Friday night, Jan. 24, with Lupe LeMon meeting Ernie Collins in the feature tussle.

LOCAL TEAM WINS OVER VISITORS

Women Defeated In Play At Country Club By Single Point

Santa Ana Country club's crack golfers were just plain poison to the Long Beach Virginians in inter-city competition here yesterday. Their 21 two-man teams won as they pleased, 53 to 10.

Virginia's team of women, however, fared much better; scored a 9½ to 8½ victory.

J. K. McDonald and H. S. Wright of Santa Ana, competing with golfers from both cities, carded a best-ball of 70-64. E. H. Guthrie and Nick Thompson of Santa Ana were second, 72-65.

METZGER TRIUMPHS

Competing with Bell Telephone company employees in a tournament of 88 entries, A. W. Metzger of Santa Ana compiled an 82 to win first place at the Rancho Country club in Los Angeles over the weekend. He was awarded a new Wilson club.

Other winners were L. Hall and E. Parr, Virginia, 75-8-67; Elmer Curry and M. E. Thompson, Santa Ana, 73-6-67; Don Kennedy and W. W. Foote, Santa Ana, 71-6-67.

Saturday's best-ball sweepstakes honors went to Don Kennedy and H. S. Wright with a 73-4-69. Other winners were L. W. Bemis and L. D. Coffing, 76-6-70; C. Boyer and F. E. Farnsworth, 79-9-70.

E. H. Guthrie and Nick Thompson were three down in their match yesterday, but came back on a 33 to win from Virginia. The best drive of the day was a 289-yard smash by Lynn Pulley on the eighth green.

PASADENA, POMONA DOWN SANTA ANA NET TEAMS

Forced to forfeit the final and deciding match, Santa Ana Tennis club's Class A team lost to La Pintoresca of Pasadena, 5 to 5, in inter-city competition at Pasadena yesterday.

With the score tied at 5-5, Santa Ana's combination of men's doubles, Toby White and Harold Lewis, took the court against Dr. Holt and Horton of the Pasadena team. They won the first set, 6-2.

Ranked No. 10

Miss Marjorie Laudbach, Santa Ana's young tennis queen now attending U. C. L. A., has been ranked No. 10 in women's singles of the Southern California Tennis association for 1935. She was the only Santa Ana player honored.

Miss Laudbach was eliminated in the Metropolitan tennis championships in Los Angeles yesterday by Elizabeth Dicke, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2. Lewis Wetherell and Fred Wiener also lost.

and battled to a 7-7 draw in the second before forfeiting. Reason: Mr. Lewis had to travel to Pomona to take charge of his Class B squad in a match there, and Mr. White had to return to Santa Ana on business.

White featured the competition by upsetting "Chuck" Otis, former Stanford star, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4. Muryl Hallman, Mrs. Gilmore Ward, Kenneth Ranney and Gilmore Ward were other winners.

GARIBALDI TO MEET HERB FREEMAN

Two Main Events Head Program At Local Wrestling Arena

By FRANK ROGERS

Journal Sports Editor

Promoter Sam Sampson brings 1935's most popular Orange county sport back for its second 1936 showing tonight when he stages a double main event wrestling program at this arena on highway 101 between this city and Anaheim.

Sampson's program, which should fill the house quite comfortably, is appropriately embellished with favorites and villains—a natural cast for a riotous performance.

Szabo, the handsome hushtin' Hungarian, a top ringer in popularity with local customers, takes on Dick Daviscourt, one of the game's most famous bad men, in one of the two three-fall battles.

Szabo and Davis

Szabo always has been a fair haired son with a dark heart, appearing almost always in the role of the hero. Daviscourt is one of the few headline wrestlers who has never appeared here before but his reputation for roughness has preceded him. Fans remember Szabo, who ranks about second to Nick Lutze in popularity here, as the guy who panted but lost to Wee Willie Davis, most hated man, in a recent battle.

Gino Garibaldi, Italian razzler who out-Saviodi-ed Joe Saviodi recently, makes his first appearance on the local mats when he takes on a new "most hated man" in Herb Freeman, Jewish behemoth in the other top post. Garibaldi is the current sensation of Los Angeles and other Southland wrestling capitals. He recently gave Champion Vincent Lopez a big evening and will meet the Mexican title-holder again later this week.

Hope for Gino

Garibaldi, fans are hoping, will squelch the Freeman fellow who threatened in his only other local appearance to become another Wee Willie Davis. Freeman's tactics have been described aptly as "less varied but dirtier" than Davis. Davis carved himself a niche in the hearts of local fans that Freeman bids fair

EPIC DEMOCRATS OF STATE VOTE ULTIMATUM TO PRESIDENT

LOCAL GROUP OBJECTS TO PROPOSAL

Over the objection of a group of Orange county delegates, the state convention of Epic Democrats yesterday at Los Angeles voted to submit to President Roosevelt the names of 128 Epic delegates to the party's national convention. They decided to give the President until Feb. 10 to approve the production for use principle. If his approval is not forthcoming, they plan to present a straight Epic slate on the May 5 primary ballot, pledged to someone else.

Action of the Epic faction followed a split in the party Friday at a meeting of the state central committee at which forces of Senator McAdoo seized control. The central committee invited President Roosevelt unconditionally to select his own delegation slate.

128 Are on List
The Epic "ultimatum" on the other hand, requested the President to choose a 44-member delegation from the list of 128 persons to be submitted, including at least 30 favoring production for use.

State Senator Culbert Olson, chairman of the state central committee, who left for Washington last night, was empowered to submit the list to President Roosevelt.

The "ultimatum" was adopted after a resolution had been suggested the preceding day by Barbara Brooks of Costa Mesa, who proposed that a slate of delegates pledged to Roosevelt and production for use be adopted, that Upton Sinclair be named to head it and that if the President rejected the slate, Sinclair pledge it to someone else.

The Brooks resolution did not mention selection of 128 names and stressed production for use. The Orange county delegates who objected to the resolution adopted apparently were not satisfied with its production for use stand. The Brooks resolution was referred to committee and was not the one finally adopted.

Olson Criticized
Senator Olson has been subjected to criticism as a result of the Friday central committee session at which the McAdoo forces gained control. Production for use was ignored at the Friday session of the committee.

Supporters of Senator Olson contend he did the right thing in bowing to the McAdoo faction when it showed up with a majority of proxies. Others criticized him for calling the central committee meeting and then failing to protect his followers from the McAdoo drive for proxies.

MEANS OF PREVENTING MWD TUNNEL SEEPAGE IS TOLD

Means whereby it is expected to prevent ground water from entering the San Jacinto tunnel of the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct were explained today in a letter from an engineering committee representing the Water Conservation association at Riverside. The letter, which came from the office of Francis Cuttle, president, was signed by George S. Hinkley, W. W. Hoy and R. D. Skelley.

The text of the letter follows: In the matter of the escape of ground water through the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct we beg to report as follows: "By appointment President Francis Cuttle, Director G. A. Hanson and the undersigned met the superintendent of construction, C. R. Rankin, field engineer, J. E. Bond, and other officials of the Metropolitan Water District at the field office in Banning on Dec. 30, 1935.

Has Greatest Inflow
"Mr. Rankin explained in detail the measures that are being taken to control and prevent the escape of water into the San Jacinto tunnel of the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct. The San Jacinto tunnel has the greatest inflow of any of the tunnels. The amount of such water is considerable at each of the five headings of this tunnel. The two headings at the Potrero shaft were supplying 12,000 gallons per minute or 1,333 miners inches and the Cabazon headings about 2,260 G. P. M. (362 miners inches). The west portal of the San Jacinto tunnel 3,100 G. P. M. (344 miners inches) and the Val Verde tunnel 1,200 G. P. M. (144 miners inches) making a total of 19,660 G. P. M. or 2,184 miners inches. This is a large amount of water as we consider water in Southern California and if wasted or carried away in the aqueduct, would do irreparable damage to someone's water supply.

"The water enters the tunnels at fault areas where the rock has been ground and shattered by earth movement. These faults may be of great length and the ground water which enters the tunnel may have traveled a long distance from its source, likewise the aqueduct may intercept water a considerable distance from its point of appropriation.

Tells of Control Method
"Mr. Rankin explained that the method used in driving the tunnel through these water bearing fault areas was to drill into the face and walls of the tunnel, insert pipes, and then pump grout of liquid neat cement under pressures up to 1,600 pounds per square inch and by this means reconsolidate the fractured rock area. In bad sections concrete rings as much as 36 inches in thickness are built up by a grout process to support the fault area and hold back the flow of water. The entire surface of the tunnel is then lined with water tight concrete. Many of the areas where large flows were entering the tunnel have been successfully sealed off by this method and are now completely dry.

"In some of the very wet areas a small tunnel (about four feet by six feet) has been constructed to intercept the water and relieve the hydrostatic pressure while the aqueduct is being lined with concrete. The small tunnel is later sealed off in solid rock after this section of the aqueduct is completed.

Staff Inspects Tunnel
"After a discussion of these problems at the Banning office, Mr. Rankin and others of the district staff took the party to the Potrero shaft where rubber boots, slickers and mine helmets were supplied. We were then lowered by means of a power elevator down the Potrero shaft 813 feet to the tunnel level. Upon reaching the floor of the tunnel an electric battery locomotive carried us to both headings of the tunnel. The tunnel is a very wet place as there are 1,333 inches of water pouring into the tunnel. This water is conveyed to the pump sump by 36-inch water pipes. The sump is connected to 5,000 horsepower of electric pumps operated by automatic remote control which lift the water against a head of 813 feet to the surface where it is wasted down a canyon. This stream enters the San Jacinto valley near the Gilman Hot Springs.

"At the east heading from the Potrero shaft the water pours in from the top and south side of the tunnel and on attempting to stop this flow it develops a pressure of about 300 pounds per square inch. The west heading of this section of the tunnel was not as wet as the east heading at the time we were there. Upon completion of another 2,000 lineal feet the west heading will be connected with the adit coming in from the west portal of the San Jacinto tunnel and thus allow the water which is now being pumped out the Potrero shaft to flow by gravity out of the tunnel. We were very much impressed by the methods used and the progress made in the construction and lining of the tunnel. The best known methods are being used to prevent the flow of water into the tunnels and with good success.

Dryness Important
"This work should be inspected occasionally during construction and the tunnels should be made dry before any water is passed through from the Colorado river. Inspections should be made from time to time after the completion of the aqueduct.

"It is very important that the Val Verde tunnel near the Cajalco reservoir should be made entirely

P.T. A. COMMENTS ON NEW MOVIES

"Captain Blood," "Ceiling Zero," and "Magnificent Obsession," are the films given "best of the month" rating by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers for January.

"Sabatini's book, 'Captain Blood,' comes to the screen as a lavish and entertaining production which will delight all who are stout of heart and young in spirit," is the commentator's remark. It is declared good for family and junior matinees.

In the field of aviation drama, "Ceiling Zero" is called outstanding. The Lloyd C. Douglas "Magnificent Obsession" is said to carry a gripping spiritual message and exquisite poignancy.

In social drama, "Chatterbox" is

JAIL TERMS GIVEN TWO FOR THEFTS

Two defendants were sentenced to the county jail for six months Friday afternoon by Superior Judge H. G. Ames, one of the sentences being suspended.

Judge Ames denied probation to Tom Vosses, on a charge of grand theft of $298.35 from the Quality Fruit Company, and sentenced Vosses to six months in jail.

George Terry, charged with petty theft of wages, was denied probation, but his six-months' jail term was suspended. He was ordered to pay labor claims of $165 to John Milne, $164 to W. A. Bates and $105 to J. A. West.

Indorsed for the family, "Riffraff" for adults, and "Three Live Ghosts" for mature attendants.

Six-Fingered Man Provides Problem In Fingerprinting

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—Arthur McDowell, transient laborer, offered a problem to the police fingerprint bureau.

He has six fingers on each hand. The fingerprint cards have spaces for only five fingers. Officers found a solution, however. They stamped the extra digit in a corner of the card.

MARRIED 65 YEARS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wadley say they have enjoyed every year of their 66-year marriage. He is 87 and she 86. They celebrated their wedding anniversary yesterday.

SET HEARING FOR THEFT SUSPECT

Arrested Friday in Los Angeles on grand theft charges brought by a Santa Ana woman, Marvin Robbins, 37, was arraigned Saturday before Judge Chris P. Pann in Santa Ana justice court. Bail was set at $2500, with the preliminary hearing to be held on Jan. 29, at 9 a. m.

Robbins is accused by Miss Mary Wallace, 308½ North Sycamore street, of stealing $300 she had loaned him after they had arranged to be married on Jan. 13. She said that after she had loaned him the money he disappeared from his room in a local hotel.

The wild turkey is called the "king of upland game" in North Carolina.

HUEY LONG'S POLITICAL HERS DEFY U. S. AS ELECTION NEARS

ALLEN DARES GOVERNMENT IN PROBE

Charges Of Vote Frauds And 'Murder Plots' Fired By Parties

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 20. (AP)—Political heirs of the late senator Huey Long hurled fresh defiance at the federal government today in completing preparations for the first ballot test without Long's leadership.

Tomorrow's Democratic primary will determine nominees for all important state offices and give the first evidence on the voters' reaction on the men who inherited Long's machine.

Allen Gives Dare
As Gov. O. K. Allen dared the federal government to intervene in the primary, Long and anti-Long candidates banded charges of intended vote stealing, registration frauds, ballot buying, "murder plots" and possible use of army troops and state militia.

A congressional committee has had agents at work for several weeks investigating the election machinery, controlled by Governor Allen, who was one of Long's lieutenants.

Governor Allen, speaking to Opelousas, a hot-bed of Long opposition, said no federal officer could have anything to do with the primary.

"Kick the President"
"They are not going to have commissioners at the polls to vote these poor relief workers like cattle," he said. "You can kick them (federal officials) out of the parish (county) if you want to. You can kick President Roosevelt out of the parish if you want to."

Governor Allen is seeking the unexpired senate term of Long's. On the ticket with him are Judge Richard Leche for governor and Allen Ellender for the full senate term.

The anti-Long group is led by Rep. Cleveland Deane, candidate for governor. Seeking office with him are Frank Looney for the short senate term and Rep. John Sandlin for the full term. Nomination is tantamount to election in Democratic Louisiana.

Climax Nears in 18-Year Battle Over Vets Bonus; $565.17 Is Average 'Bill'

The World war veterans' demand for cash payment of the bonus reached alarming proportions when, in 1932, the "bonus marchers" descended on Washington and precipitated pitched battles between veterans and police and military authorities. The picture above shows the marchers on the capitol steps and below, a climax of a skirmish.

(First of a Series)

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. — Immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus—political storm center since the World war ended 18 years ago—promises to materialize in the present session of congress.

The issue reached its present stage because of the united front presented by major veterans' organizations and because various proponents of bonus legislation in congress "got together."

Final disposition of the bonus problem during this session would mean that within the next few months some 3,518,191 veterans who held adjusted service certificates would receive an average net payment of $565.17 each.

Outstanding certificates have a maturity value of $3,464,988,330. Against these are liens totaling $1,763,144,548 for loans made by the government and banks to 3,026,190 veterans. Of that sum, the veterans' administration estimates that $1,476,597,148 represents the principle of the loans and $286,547,400 the interest.

Some Not To Be Cashed
By deducting the principle sum of the loans from the maturity value, the estimated total payment as provided for in the united veterans bill is $1,988,391,182.

If the provisions of the united veterans bill are enacted into law, and veterans who have not borrowed on their certificates are permitted to leave them with the government upon an interest bearing basis, it is estimated that 500,000 such certificates with an average value of $1000 each, or a total value of a half a billion dollars, will not be cashed.

The fewer certificates cashed, the less would be the immediate expenditure.

The measure introduced by Representative Vinson and known as the Vinson-Patman-McCormack bill, authorizes immediate cash payment of the bonus, but offers 3 per cent interest as an additional attraction to veterans not cashing their certificates until 1945.

The "united front" bill provides no way of financing the bonus payments. Representative Patman of Texas, author of the bill passed in the last session but vetoed by President Roosevelt, and providing for payment of the full value of the certificates in new United States currency, hopes to get the payment authorized first and then have his "greenback" plan of payment adopted.

Puffy's gasping for air as he turns the big key. He's almost too weak and too dizzy to see. He clutches the "oxygen suit" with a cry. While he screams the rocket, high, high in the sky.

PENSION PLAN DUTIES TOLD DELEGATES

Townsendites Of Three Counties Learn Of Next Procedure

Charging Townsend club members to their political responsibilities, Ralph D. Horton, Los Angeles, addressed delegates from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties at the semi-annual convention of 19th California congressional district Townsend clubs, held Saturday in Riverside.

"If the present congress will enact the Townsend plan," the speaker declared, "we will back them. But if not, then by their acts they will sign the death warrant of their own political oblivion."

Urges Support
"If both major political parties fail to assist us, what under heaven is there left for us to do but to launch our own candidates?" he asked.

He pointed to the personal sacrifices of Dr. F. E. Townsend in launching the movement and urged a similar support from Townsend members if the movement is to progress.

"Might the Townsend plan, like the Agricultural Adjustment act, be declared unconstitutional?" was the question he next faced.

Sees Plan Upheld
"Our plan does not propose to tax all classes to pay one class a pension, as it will benefit the entire nation," he said. "If the court should decide against it, it would invalidate all federal pensions now being paid. The supreme court has never yet reversed itself on any decision, and I declare the Townsend plan unconstitutional would be a reversal of its former decisions in connection with pension matters."

Re-election of the entire district board reinstated the following executives: Fred Vollmer, Santa Ana, and Frank Kowall, Fullerton, for Orange county; Dr. C. S. Harper, Riverside, Dr. George Shortness, Hemet, and E. C. Bishop, Riverside, for Riverside county; and Guy S. Garner, High Grove, and George Wixom, San Bernardino, for San Bernardino county.

Collins Directs Band
The Townsend band under Ted Collins, Santa Ana, was given official endorsement as the 19th district congressional band and will be maintained by district support.

State area offices have been established at 132 East Third street, Pomona, Ted Felt, area manager for 12th and 19th California districts, announced.

A telegram of appreciation and request for further support was sent to Congressman Samuel Collins.

Dr. Keith Walker, Riverside, sang "The Land of Hope and Glory," and the Rev. R. E. Highley and Mrs. Highley presented three duet numbers. Ted Felt presided at the meeting.

NAME HEAD FOR COUNTY CAMPS

Dr. Frederick E. Tully today was named as the administrative official to head the administration forces of the federal camps for unattached men in Orange and San Diego counties.

Three such camps, at Silverado canyon, Orange and San Clemente, have been established in Orange county, housing approximately 400 men.

In each of the camps there is an infirmary with six beds, and a first aid man in attendance at all times. Work of the men is for the most part on forestry projects, under the direction of the state forestry service.

TO AD FARMERS

BRUNO PROBE VEILED IN SILENCE

Hoffman's Aide Denies Reports Of New Clue On Kidnap Ladder

By DALE HARRISON

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—Governor Hoffman today adopted a policy of silence to continue until he is ready to announce his reasons for doubting that Bruno Richard Hauptmann alone kidnaped the Lindbergh baby.

The governor's press aide said that the chief executive would reveal nothing as to developments in his investigation until the proper time.

"Knows Nothing"
The aide, William S. Conklin, said he "knew nothing" about the following reports:

That on the kidnap ladder had been found fingerprints corresponding with those of a man suspected by Ellis H. Parker, county detective and friend of the governor, to have had a part in the kidnaping.

That the governor had been advised to have David T. Wilentz and Anthony M. Hark, Jr., displaced respectively as attorney general and prosecutor of Hunterdon county.

Good Opponents
That the governor would goad his opponents into demanding his impeachment and counter with a demand that the state police solve the mysteries of the case.

That Hauptmann had asked to see the governor again. Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, denied Hauptmann had made such a request.

Governor Praised
Conklin said that letters to the governor from citizens in regard to the reprieve praised the governor for the most part.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief counsel for Hauptmann, said today he had received a letter from Mrs. Hauptmann requesting that Egbert Rosecrans, one of Fisher's associates, no longer have anything to do with the case. In view of details by Rosecrans that he had expressed belief in Hauptmann's guilt, Fisher commented, he would try to induce Mrs. Hauptmann to change her mind.

FAULKNER DATA IS GIVEN POLICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (AP)—The Bronx district attorney's office disclosed today that it has turned over to the New Jersey state police the signature of and data upon a "J. J. Faulkner" who disappeared mysteriously many months ago.

"J. J. Faulkner" was the name signed to credit slip in exchange of $2950 of the Lindbergh ransom money at the Federal Reserve bank in New York. The district attorney, Samuel J. Foley, refused to comment further.

William Foley, chief claim agent of the Third Avenue railway, said, however, that a J. J. Faulkner was employed by the railway as carpenter and disappeared during the summer of 1934 or 1935.

"He had a couple of pay-checks coming to him," Foley said, "and he didn't even bother to cash them when he dropped from sight. A few days ago I went over speedily of the man's handwriting and they looked a lot like those of J. J. Faulkner of the Lindbergh case."

PLAN WPA JOBS FOR WRITERS

Unemployed writers in Orange county are to be given work in the near future on "The American Guide," encyclopedia of American information being compiled by the Works Progress administration.

E. D. Gregerson, San Francisco, is in charge of the work in the Orange and San Diego counties. He has opened offices and already has approximately a score of workers in the field getting preliminary data.

Special attention will be given by the management to cities of 10,000 or more, according to Mr. Gregerson. Each of these cities will be a center of activity, whose investigators will operate within its borders and search its surrounding neighborhood for color and information.

Speaking of ODD JOBS-

APPLE POLISHER

Bernard Rogers, literally is an apple polisher. Fruit used in motion pictures doesn't photograph properly unless it is "made up" before, and Rogers is the fruit make-up man for the Paramount studios. He gives apples and oranges and bananas and grapes the proper sheen by applying glycerin and liquid wax. "Artificial fruit looks artificial," he says, "so we must keep a supply of real fruit on hand. But we can't use it until after a treatment of wax and glycerin. Why? Well, it must look appetizing." There is quite an art to Rogers' job, and not everyone—he points out proudly—can be a successful apple polisher.

PROBE DUE IN DEMOCRATIC TICKET ROW

Sale Of Admissions To Relief Workers For Rally Draws Fire

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20. (AP)—Complaints that WPA workers in low-wage brackets were canvassed by ticket-sellers for a Democratic barbecue resulted in the promise of an investigation today by Sam Small, secretary to U. S. Senator W. G. McAdoo.

Men on various federal projects were reportedly asked to budget $1 out of their weekly earnings for tickets to the outdoor rally here next Saturday. It is being held under the auspices of the California Assembly of Democrats to raise campaign funds.

"We want only those who can afford to buy the tickets," said Small, assembly chairman, when apprised of the complaints.

"I've instructed the solicitors to stay away from WPA projects and WPA workers. If I find that WPA workers have subscribed to these tickets against their will or against their economic judgment, I stand ready to pay them back their money."

Small said 350 sellers are operating in Southern California counties.

Three Approaching Formal Affairs Hold Interest of Santa Ana's Socialites

Country Club To Be Scene Of Two

President's Ball Holds Most General Interest of Month-End Trio

Shake the wrinkles out of that pretty new formal frock, Mrs. or Miss Santa Ana, for it'll surely be worn in the next two weeks.

A trio of parties holding interest for local socialites will begin with the Kappa Delta Phi Kappa Alpha Phi semi-formal midwinter dance Saturday evening in the Santa Ana Country Clubhouse. Bids are available from members of either fraternal group.

Next on the social calendar, check Thursday evening, Jan. 30, which will be the third annual President's birthday ball (and card party). Dancers will rally in the American Legion clubhouse, where a good orchestra will provide music. Card enthusiasts are to throng the Ebell clubhouse.

And for the younger social set, there's Tux and Gown's last formal of the season, Saturday eve, Feb. 1, in the S. A. C. clubhouse. The country club has been the scene of the three previous parties of Tux'n Gown's year.

GRACE Y. HUDSON TALKS TO GROUP

Members of the Laguna Beach Woman's club at their regular luncheon meeting in the clubhouse Friday afternoon, heard Mrs. Grace Y. Hudson of Pasadena, state federation chairman of community contacts, discuss her federation work.

Mrs. Malinda Woodworth gave current events. Committee for the luncheon included Mrs. C. Hanson, Mrs. Ralph Bell, Mrs. Lynn Shrewsbury, Mrs. Clint Austin and Mrs. John H. Smith.

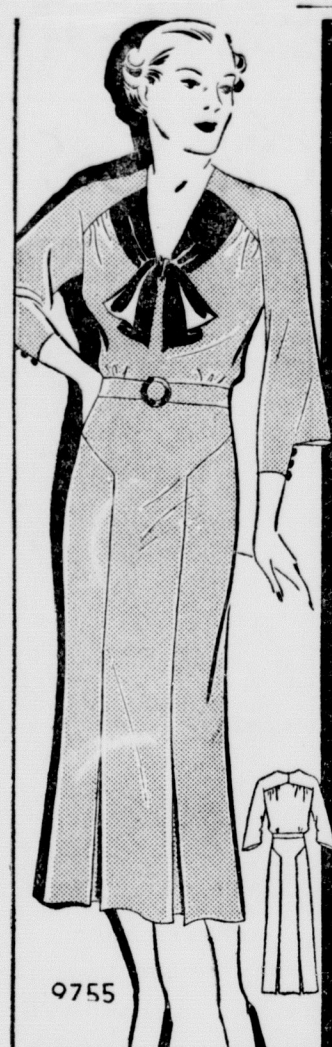

EBELL TRAVEL GROUP TO MEET FRIDAY

Ebell third travel section will meet Friday for a 12:15 o'clock luncheon in charge of Mrs. M. C. Williams, in the Ebell clubhouse.

Mrs. W. W. Kays and E. L. Madden are to have charge of the afternoon hostessing.

In the program hour, Miss Gertrude Minor will discuss Westminster Abbey and the Parliament building, and Mrs. C. P. Boyer will talk on "Old Castles in England and Scotland."

Marian Martin Frock Especially Slimming For Sizes Over Forty

PATTERN 9755
"If you can't be slim, then dress the part!" is Marian Martin's word to the wise who refuse to let a few excess pounds keep them from looking slender. A frock with as slender lines as pattern 9755 has a knack for contradicting the scales, and those whose extra pounds lie in shoulders, bust or hips, will find this frock slenderizing at each of these focal points: diagonals of raglan shoulder and skirt yoke, for example, plus the delightfully decorative and concealing scarf and tie which adorn the bodice. Whether walking or sitting, inverted pleats are for extra "give," while partly slashed cuffs add a distinctive note. Choose a dull lustre, crepe or synthetic triple sheer, with satin for the bow. Complete, diagrammed Marian Martin sew cut included.

Pattern 9755 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and 3/4 yard contrasting.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Send for our new spring pattern book, and take the guesswork out of planning and making your new clothes! Its many smart, practical designs will show you new ways to look your charming best, new ways to use the latest spring fabrics, new ways to stretch your budget. Special flattering designs for suit figures. Patterns for the whole family. Price of book 15 cents. Book and pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Journal, pattern department, Santa Ana.

MRS. R. H. GARDELL FETED AT PARTY

Mrs. Raymond H. Gardell (Edythe John) was feted pleasantly by Mrs. Warren McCarty, who entertained with a shower party for her one evening recently in the McCarty home on North Lowell street.

After a series of games, the hostess served a midnight supper. Guests included Mrs. Russell Macy, in whose home the honoree was married Christmas day, and Mesdames Charles Macy, Richard Martin, Harry Becker, Otis Miller, Frank Kiesel, Eugene Pettit, Vincent Horin, Verald Selvidge, Sophie Johnson, Nell Miller, Warner Moore and Alice Westover and Misses Harriet Stearns and Edna Doss.

DR. J. O. ARNOLD ADDRESSES GROUP

Dr. Jeanie Oliver Arnold, artist and resident in the famous art colony in Woodstock, N. Y., spoke to members of the Laguna Beach Art association and visitors at the Art Gallery Saturday evening.

Doctor Arnold fascinated listeners with her history of Woodstock and description of artists and residents in the famous little colony. She told of the old superstition that a curse had been put on the village by Indians who first lived in the town, and of the failings and the final beginning of the art colony which has gained world fame. She spoke of the painters, weavers, potters, writers and musicians resident in the village and the noise they have received throughout the art world.

Doctor Arnold is the guest of Miss Virginia Woolley at 2202 Diamond street and will spend three months in Laguna Beach, where she plans to paint the shores and picturesque hills of "Our Village."

Wedding Is on Anniversary Of Parents

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour at which 23 years ago her parents were married, Miss Marjorie Chaffee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee of Garden Grove exchanged wedding vows with Gerald B. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hunter of Whittier, in a pretty ceremony at the Wedding Chapel on North Main street.

The Rev. Floyd J. Seaman, pastor of Grace Methodist church, Los Angeles, officiated. Flowers and greenery banked the altar for the candlelight rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white chiffon velvet, made with fitted skirt, flared into a short train, and with cowl neckline and full sleeves fitted at the wrist. Her finger ring veil was caught with orange blossoms. The bride's earrings she wore were "something borrowed," and a handkerchief was "something old and blue." The bride's bouquet was white rosebuds, gardenias and sweet peas.

Two Are Soloists

Miss Ethel Chaffee, her sister's maid of honor, wore pale green broadcloth satin. She carried pastel sweet peas. The flower girl, Patty Lou Road of Fullerton, the bridegroom's cousin, wearing white, scattered rose petals.

Warren Hoke of Bellflower was best man. Ushers were Walter Chaffee of Garden Grove and Leo Hunter of Whittier.

Miss Loreta Burchfield played the wedding march and accompanied the soloists. Mrs. Irving German of Garden Grove, who sang, "I Love You Truly," with her husband playing the violin obligato, and James Baker of Fullerton, who sang, "At Dawning."

After the ceremony, the 80 guests were invited to a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The mothers of the couple, Mrs. Chaffee in aquamarine and Mrs. Hunter in wine-colored gown, presided. The three-tiered bride's cake was topped with a tiny bride and groom. Pink and white flowers decorated the home.

The bride, member of a pioneer Garden Grove family, wore a smart Argonaut blue frock with black accessories when she left with her husband for a mountain trip. She is a graduate of the Garden Grove schools and of Fullerton Junior college, and a member of Theta Nu Epsilon sorority.

Mr. Hunter, now associated with the Perkins Oilwell Cementing company at Norwalk, was graduated from the Whittier schools and attended Fullerton Junior college.

A new home at Whittier awaits their return.

Ruth Collins Becomes Bride In Church

In a simple ceremony witnessed by 150 friends and relatives, Miss Ruth Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins of Laguna Beach, became the bride of Lawrence O. Barfell, son of Mrs. Glenora Barfell, in Laguna Beach Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. G. B. Harvey of Los Angeles.

The bride wore a lovely lace bula dress with long train and a veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Jean Giddings, teacher at the local grammar school, as maid of honor wore flowered satin with a bouquet of yellow gladioli and blue delphinium. A set of her yellow and blue-flowered dress.

Mr. Linton T. Simmons, principal of the high school, was best man. Fred Garland of Santa Ana, cousin of the bride, sang, with Kent Garland playing the wedding march and accompaniment.

Mrs. Joan Hughes, mother of Mrs. A. B. Collins, Mrs. F. D. Collins, mother of A. B. Collins, and Mrs. Glenora Barfell, mother of the bridegroom each wore lovely corsages given them by the bride's mother.

Paul W. Colburn, vice-principal of the local high school, James Knight, Frank Collins, uncle of the bride, and Lynn Pace of Long Beach were ushers.

Following the wedding and reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barfell left on a short honeymoon. They will live at 738 Manzanita drive and intend to finish the school year in their positions in the high school here.

Chatter of Doings at Laguna Beach

By MAXINE STOREY

Just as Lagunaites dig out the old slacks and heavy coats, sunshine reigns again and last summer's bathing suits are donned for week-end gatherings on the beach. Some lads and lassies are patting tan oils on in an attempt to start the season early. . . . others stroll the beach or push the old row-boats into the breakers.

Fireplaces are deserted and Wood's, Diver's or Three Arch's coves once more become centers of attention.

Meanwhile a glimpse of glad-abouts: Marianne and Haring Griggs back in the strong again following Haring's recent trip to New York. . . . many congratulatory about to Mr. and Mrs. Stan Johnson over the birth this week of a baby daughter weighing nine pounds. . . . Lucinda Griffith breezing south coast-ward Sunday. . . . Mickey Aheer back from the hospital after the almost-fatal accident this week. . . . Harry Parker back from two week's stay in Los Angeles. . . . the Clarke Ingraham's celebrating the warm weather with a set or two of tennis. . . . Bob Jordan and Frank Fitts' son voyage Saturday on their three-months trip 'round the world. . . . Wynkie' Sykes back from a few days' stay at Capistrano Hot Springs. . . . the Gavy Cravath's entertaining with a dinner in their cabin at the springs Friday eve. . . . and regrets that George O'Hara will leave Laguna soon.

Footlights changed to eerie red and thespians stepping quietly at the Community club denote the coming presentation of the popular mystery-thriller, "Whistling in the Dark," by Lawrence Gross and Childs Carpenter.

Thomasina Mix, daughter of Tom Mix, and a student at the local school will play the lead. Much interest in the appearance of "Montie" (Mrs. Helen) Monahan in the play. . . . she turns this month from costuming actors and actresses to stepping on the stage herself in a leading role in the production. Others in the cast include Jack Welch, Gordon Maudsley, Wes Densmore, Paul Taylor, Mr. Parker, Harwill Robinson and David Paul.

Seen in a flash: Davie Monahan whizzing canyon-ward in his "new" model T. . . . a young lad breezing down the highway on roller skates with the police dog as the puller. . . . Lawrence Gross strolling about the village in knickerbockers, high boots and checked coat. . . . Mal St. Clair and Mack Sennett chatting of past days in the silent movie trend. . . . Stew Herrick in yachting cap and blue coat piloting his "cad" through Sunday traffic. . . . Bob Peacock swinging a tennis racket and sporting an all-white outfit, up the highway Saturday.

A flash of coming club events: This evening, Woman's club holds its weekly card party at the clubhouse; everyone welcome. Tomorrow evening members of the high school P.T.A. meet at the school. . . . Wednesday afternoon Women's Guild holds a desert bridge at St. Mary's Episcopal church. . . . Friday evening Laguna will turn out en masse for the house-warming of the new grammar school. . . . Friday afternoon the Garden club meets at the Hotel Laguna; A. B. Perkins, horticultural commissioner will speak. That's all; but it means another week of full programs for

Women Come Back After Love Has Been Lost, Leaving Whimpers To The Men

By MARY STODDARD

Women do less whimpering than men about broken love affairs. So declares Miss Lona Bonnell, whose consulting bureau in New York has saved many an individual from suicide.

"I think it is a certain kind of pride that a woman has, different from a man's pride, that helps her to stand up and fight, and to pretend that she does not care so much," says Miss Bonnell.

"A man will go to pieces, willing to let all the world know that his heart is broken and that he has nothing left to live for."

A motto on Miss Bonnell's desk says: "Any fool can die. It takes courage to live and serve." That is a wise motto to remember, when you feel that love has gone and life holds nothing more for you. Life has a way of going on and on, and even broken hearts are usually mendable.

What it takes to mend them varies with the individual case. But it always takes courage. And the man or woman who has courage can come out victorious in any fight, no matter how great the odds.

The Rev. Wesley A. Havermale, Rector, officiated. The bride wore a smart navy blue tulle with blue and white accessories and white orchid corsage.

Little Miss Madeline Maypole was the only wedding attendant. After a wedding breakfast at the Rector's Tavern for the bridal group and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark Silver of Tustin, and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooper Maypole of Los Angeles, the couple left for the desert.

They will return to live at 2121 Canada boulevard, Glendale. Mr. Maypole is connected with Forest Lawn in Glendale. His bride is a member of Santa Ana Junior Ebells and has hosts of Orange county friends.

Mr. Fraser played for an hour and a half. He showed to great advantage the understanding he gained of Debussy's works when in France he came in contact with a protegee of the composer.

Mrs. W. B. Snow and Mrs. Mabel Spizzy served a Valentine tea with dainty little sandwiches in the social hour. The guests mingled and discussed the program, which they applauded enthusiastically.

Bridge awards went to Mrs. J. C. Sexton and E. B. Sprague. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Skirvin, Mrs. Jean Metzgar and Mrs. John Metzgar.

Tomorrow at 2 o'clock, the Woman's club of Santa Ana is to meet in the Veterans hall for business and program sessions. Mrs. Earl M. Waycott will preside.

At 1 o'clock, the study section will meet in the hall.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the garden section will rally in the home of Mrs. Waycott on West Washington street.

local socialites and active club members.

Art lovers gathered at the gallery on the hill Saturday eve to hear what turned out to be the most interesting lecture of the season. Dr. Jeanie Oliver Arnold of Woodstock, N. Y., spoke to the group on the history of Woodstock and the artists residing there. To artists it was exceptionally interesting since it gave an insight into the trials and successes of eastern artists. . . . to California migrants it was fascinating in that most who come here from the east consider Woodstock as a most interesting, yet slightly confusing wee town in New York state. . . . and to others it was satisfying to hear the details and the life of a colony of artists, writers, musicians of world renown, Laguna artists were fashioned and glad to welcome her into their midst Saturday eve.

Until next week. . . . hasta la vista!

SUBMISSION—Patience, says another, is an excellent remedy for grief, but submission to the hand of him that sends it, is a far better one.—C. Simmons.

RADIO'S GROWING PAINS

THE RADIO chains have their hands full these days. They are caught between the upper and nether millstones of politics, and some rough edges are almost sure to be ground off.

With a President who likes to have his vital messages go straight to the firesides of the people, opposed by a party whose chairman holds that every word of the chief executive is political and must be answered, the radio chain managers have a nut to crack.

The newspapers, which learned decades ago that a publicity outlet which becomes a mere propaganda organ is doomed, can, if they wish, chortle at the predicament of their aerial colleagues.

Any person or group of persons with sufficient cash—and nerve—can start a newspaper in any town or city in this land.

Not so with radio stations. To start operating a radio station the radio station must have a federal permit because it is in interstate business and must operate over one of a rigidly limited number of radio channels.

So, the poor radio stations that already have the main channels must keep them open to all, with a very cautious eye to political windward.

The situation that grows more acute with each passing day may eventually result in placing the radio chains in the public utility class, with the consequent barring of all forms of propaganda.

Because the ether waves are strictly limited in their scope they may come finally to be regarded as the public's property—like highways—to be used for the common good of all.

A Cornell professor has found a smell-less cabbage. Now if somebody will give him an onion to work on.

LESSON FOR TYRANTS

DR. PAUL GOEBBELS, German minister of propaganda, apparently has learned nothing from Mussolini's tilt with the League of Nations over Italian aggression in Ethiopia.

Urging the German people to advance rearmament, he says:

"The time is coming when we must demand colonies. It cannot go on like this. There are countries which have more colonies than they know what to do with."

The Nazi official seems set upon the same imperialistic policy which is bringing international and internal grief to Italy. He forgets that the world has changed since Britain and France grabbed the choicest lands in Africa and Asia. And that the League of Nations—in one respect a tool of Britain and France—will see to it that there is no shift in the balance of colonial holdings in the Near East.

Dr. Goebbels expresses the blood-mad, land-mad lust of a group of European dictators who have set out to make the world their footstool.

He may learn nothing from the example of Italy. But he and Germany will pay dearly for any education obtained by direct experience.

Three years ago it was commendable to have a $10 gold piece and a crime to have a bottle of liquor. Now it is commendable to have the liquor and a crime to have the gold piece.

ONE OF THOSE IDEAS

ONE DAY soon we're going to check up on that Leap Year program which the Long Beach High school boys started.

You recall, perhaps, that the boys decided to make the girls ask for all the dates, buy theater and dance tickets, pay meal checks and generally assume the usual "privileges" of the male.

We don't know just how long an idea like that can survive, but we suspect not for long.

Men are always rebelling against women's "tyranny." They swear, by all the gods, they'll be at a meeting place on time and wait five minutes—no more, s'help us—for the little woman. They vow they'll not wash those dishes.

But all these rebellions usually come to nothing. After waiting 35 minutes for a girl, fuming and cussing, the young man always smiles sweetly when she arrives and fobs that he just got there himself. And as for dishwashing in the modern home—you know the answer.

Well, we wish those high school lads luck in making girls ask them for dates, pay their meal checks and take them to shows—but we bet that the scheme hasn't lasted any longer than a celluloid collar in a three-alarm fire.

LEARNING FROM LOUIS

THERE'S a lesson to be learned from Joe Louis, heavyweight pugilist who has a way of promptly knocking opponents unconscious.

The lesson doesn't deal with fisticuffs—but with the art of doing your job well and lengthening your life.

Next to his punch, Louis' best asset is his ability to relax during the strenuous period that precedes a bout. Successful athletes all have mastered the technique of relaxation. If they hadn't, they wouldn't be top-notchers. Nervous tension and worry would hamstring them.

It's the same in business and home life, too. You need to relax mentally and physically—to let go of grievances, suspicion, doubt, and fear—to take the load off your nerves and muscles.

You can learn to relax without getting listless or lazy. In fact, relaxation gives you the strength necessary to carry on well.

Learn relaxation—and you've learned how to increase your ability and extend your life.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Early out, in step with men rushing to mighty affairs and a feeling of vast unimportance.

O. O. McIntyre

And came upon Frances and Isaac Marcosson and bade farewell to H. T. Webster, off to winter in Florida. And waved to that scatter-brained picky, Grace Allen.

Home and found Faith Baldwin's signed volume, "The Moon's Own Home," and a telegram from Lenore Ulric that made me flow.

So-rounding out my stint and with my wife to chaffer among the shops and later to Pierre's to the Frank Storr's tea for the Daniel Sickles.

To a stag dinner with Lowell Thomas. Afterward to pick up my wife at Helen Hayes' show and upon sudden whim we shot up to the Rainbow room for a Welsh rabbit. Then home in a fret about the world and lay awake so long I got up and started a magazine piece about Flo Ziegfeld.

The father and daughter combination is one of the noticeable innovations in the dining out and dancing life of the town. Fathers in full evening dress, proudly conscious of the youth and beauty they are escorting. Among the fatherly companionships with daughters are those of Marshall Field, Esmond O'Brien, William Thaw III, Bide Dudley, Bertam Taylor and Lew Brown. Incidentally Esmond O'Brien is the crack non-professional dancer of the town, being one of the few to master the art of the Lindy hop and truckin'.

Not many Broadwayites have kept so many balls juggling as S. Jay Kaufman, one of the first of the New York columnists. His versatility aside from columnizing has included scouting through Europe for stage talent, promoting benefits, press agenting, running a knitting mill, lecturing and now his most recent exploit—mastering of ceremonies. He made a polished debut at the opening of Helen Morgan's midnight mosque for young blades as well as fatigued fossils.

Personal nomination for a rival for Jack Benny's suavity on the air—Frank Fay.

Statistics reveal Manhattan's most healthful area, Ruddy Row, they call it, stretching along Central Park West where Jack Dempsey and Kate Smith live, between Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and First street. Those who might think the fresh, untainted air from the open space is responsible learn the other side of the park has not kept pace. During children's epidemics as well as fiercer plagues among adults the west side is strikingly light in its toll. There's little tuberculosis there. The most terrific devastation is in one of the notorious lung blocks in Harlem's 130's. It is being razed.

Evidently there are editors who have no time for gardening among literary upshots. A distressed young Boston aspirant, who pleaded for frank criticism instead of the usual rejection slip, sends me the penciled notation he found on his returned manuscript. It read: "Not good, not bad, just lousy."

John McClain, the Barrymore of the galleons, brings a salt water tang to ship news reporting that makes him worthy of the mantle of the lamented Harry Acton. McClain is a product of Harding's town, Marion, O., husky and shy and speaks a provincial viewpoint with sudden flashes that suggest he has been around alright, alright. He writes best about nothing at all—a subtlety for which many strive but few achieve.

Bagatelles: Ethel Waters is now the sickle colored paragon. Ex-King Alfonso has 112 wives watches. Addison split infinitives whenever it sounded better to his ears. Henry Ford, after a trying day, likes a mystery thriller. Lloyd George's idea of heaven is an open fire, a biography and a bowl of Malaga grapes and English walnuts.

Lily Pons is terrorized by rides in skyscraper elevators. W. R. Hearst speaks of all his employees as associates.

Last night, or rather at 3 a. m., I tried out a home-made dingbat I have been perfecting the last week. The intent of the device was to light the bedside lamp by pressing a bulb under the pillow. It exceeded original expectations by blowing out every fuse in the apartment, burning a hole in the carpet and scorching a sheet. The electrician explained the last person he knew to try such an experiment wasn't here any more. A weary voice from the other room called: "Why should he be?" (Copyright, 1936)

People can get along if they try to. We've always been congenial because we attended to our work.—William H. Spikings, 88, Chicago, on his sixty-second wedding anniversary.

The relief which we expected from the repeal of prohibition has not materialized.—Sanford Bates, federal prison director.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Confidential reports received by the state department from Italy indicate a much more desperate condition than has leaked out through censored press dispatches.

Not only have Italian troops in East Africa been defeated, but there has been increasing restlessness at home. Strikes have taken place in several Italian munitions plants. There has been disaffection among the Alpine troops, pride of the Italian army, with the result that some of them are being transferred to the Abyssinian front.

Finally, an underground Communist organization is reported to be gaining ground throughout Italy.

All of these situations have contributed to a secret Franco-British plan to intervene with a new peace plan to save Italy.

While they dislike and distrust Mussolini, the French and British cannot afford to have him crack up. This especially is the view of the French. Mussolini, as a checkmate against Hitler's Austrian ambitions, is worth far more to the French than any altruism in Abyssinia.

The new peace plan will not go as far as the Hoare-Laval agreement. Also the French and British plan to try first to get the official stamp of the league. It will be put forward as a league plan.

What the British frankly fear is that Mussolini, facing defeat in East Africa, will try to save face by persuading his people that they are being attacked by Europe, and become the mad dog of the Mediterranean. This would precipitate general war.

JACK AND JILL
Two reddish brown Irish setters named Jack and Jill frequently compete with Mrs. Roosevelt at her weekly press conferences. Explaining their presence, Mrs. Roosevelt says:

"Strictly speaking they belong to Anna (Boettiger). But since her apartment in New York is not conducive to exercising two large Irish setters, they are spending the winter with me."

"They are houseguests. They seem quite contented. They are very contented with me when nobody else is around, but whenever the children come, they immediately return to their first loves."

"Jack and Jill are brother and sister. They are very friendly, but they do not get much exercise. They bark a lot, but when they are exercised they are too tired to bark."

NEW AAA
Now that the plan of revamping the AAA is completed, Henry Wallace is almost of the opinion that the overhauling may have done some good after all.

Reason is that when Wallace first became secretary of agriculture, one thing he wanted to accomplish was an all-embracing system of soil conservation, whereby the government could help rebuild the land on every farmer's farm.

However, even in the days of the "brain trust," this was considered too idealistic and visionary. It was marked down as something to aim at within the next few years.

But now, under the revamped AAA, this goal virtually has been attained. Its provision whereby a farmer sets aside a certain acreage each year also gives the government the right to tell him how it shall be planted—in legumes, grass, etc., according to chemical analysis of the soil.

This is virtually what Wallace originally wanted.

PRAYERFUL ATTITUDE
Senate Democratic Floor Leader Joe Robinson was holding a press conference in his office and during the course of the discussion rested his hands before his face. He might have been in an attitude of prayer. As he did so a photographer clicked his camera.

Joe bolted upright, snapped: "Here, you! Destroy that plate. I don't want my picture appearing in the papers of the country in a prayerful attitude."

UNAFAID
Verner W. Main hopes he won't die in office, but he is ready for anything fate has in store for him.

He is the new congressman from Michigan's third district. The last five congressmen representing that district have died in office.

"I'm not superstitious," says Main, but I'm something of a fatalist. If fate has ordained that I must die before my time, why worry about it? There is a destiny that shapes our ends, rough how they though we may."

In faithful order, the following five died before their terms expired: William H. Frankhauser, who committed suicide in 1921; John M. C. Smith, who died in 1923 after serving 21 months; Arthur B. Williams, who died after an operation in 1925; Joseph L. Hooper, who died of a heart attack in 1934; Henry M. Kimball, who died last October after 11 months in office.

But Main is not disturbed. He says it helps to be a fatalist. He smiles from a round, dimpled face, and exudes the optimism of a man who has been a Presbyterian elder, a Kiwanis president, and a leader of the Boy Scouts of America.

The fact is, however, that Main took out extra life insurance before stepping into the shoes of five dead men.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

When Wallace summoned farm leaders to Washington to formulate a new AAA, cotton sharecroppers asked to be represented through their Southern Tenant Farmers' union. Wallace declined.

As a WPA project, white collar relief workers are plodding from one movie house to another through the country taking a census of the film business. The senate's baby, Elmer A. Benson, Minnesota, has struck up a friendship with the senate's other baby, Rush Holt, West Virginia. When "Puddler Jim" Davison, Pennsylvania, delivered a mingling discourse in the senate recently, his only listener was his colleague, Joe Guffey, Pennsylvania.

This bonus is a bewickered issue to bewickered Congressman Tinkham, Massachusetts. Sixteen times it has been presented during his term of office. Sixteen times he has voted "no." Abolition of New Deal emergency agencies would not lighten the burden of McCarl's general accounting office, which is three to five years behind in its general routine.

The big bankers were massing their forces for attack on the

PENSION PLANS

To the Editor:

Very recently a little girl, says, "Papa, I don't believe in the Townsend plan." Now her statement has a threefold meaning. (a) That even children are now thinking Townsendism. (b) That they, as a result of this thinking, are forming opinions. (c) That, in order to ward off deformed opinions, they must be taught.

This child could do more with her thoughts, and did do more than most people I know of are doing with theirs; she could give the reasons for her belief, and do it without stuttering.

No, you have not guessed her reasons yet; do you want that I should tell what they were? As to her reasons they were that "papa had a job" and for this reason "grandpa and grandma" could not get the pension. This means, as the world would say it, that she had her wires crossed and that she was ready to be taught.

She had been reading a book entitled S. S. A. "Social Security Act" thinking it was from Townsend's library and, of course, her reasons from it were well founded; who can deny that they were.

Then, as if 'twas to be so, she stumbled, somehow, onto a book entitled O. A. R. P. and being naturally studious, soon was absorbed in its contents, and ere long papa came in and she says, "Papa, Grandpa and Grandma can too get that pension, even if you have got a job, for it says here, everybody 60 years old or more, if they have been good and will spend it all, can get it, and they don't have to be 65 years old either, see? Oh, goody."

She now can see, in a mixture of "S. S. A." and "O. A. R. P." a counterpart of Bossy's feed, "watch and learn," and what was it we did—timed us to remark about this brand of mixed feed? Oh, yes, "the more of the latter, the better." Take away all that mixture and think of the effect upon Bossy; take away the latter part and keep on thinking, but take away the former part, and your problem for more and better food is solved.

Only one of the many who are daily coming to know that in "S. S. A." is found naught but more and more of that we are now suffering, a something that needs no comment; but they, like all others, do know there is a something that is needed, and they are forced to turn elsewhere for relief; and millions, many of them, have found that something and it is labeled "O. A. R. P."

TOWNSEND BACKER

AMONG THE BEST

To the Editor: I wish to express my appreciation of The Journal's mention of my article on "The Doctor's Debt to the Hospital," published in the December issue of Hospital Progress. The article really was a tribute to our excellent Orange county hospitals. I think people, generally, do not realize that our St. Joseph's and General county hospitals rank among the best in the country by the ratings of the American College of Surgeons.

J. LUTHER MAROON, M. D.

Remarkable Remarks

The sporting thing for Lindbergh to have done would have been to remain home and rally the youth of the country in a drive against the lawless—Capt. Frederic Snyder, educator.

En route. So Dick Haster gives me a lift. Conversation immediately turned to oranges and weather. Dick was thankful we had the Santana wind and thankful it left when it did as it removed the danger of frost damage. Caring for oranges is like patients in a hospital. Every tree needs a nurse. At that they grow into adults in a remarkably short space of time and do mighty well considering the vicissitudes they go through. If you get into any other industry you will find it has its troubles. So great peaceful people into war.

But the right is more precious than peace.

And the die was cast.

And again the mysterious Col. House flits across the stage. Nothing was quite so contrary to the maintenance of peace as this solemn, inscrutable international spy. He slithered here and there among European diplomats, gliding from capital to capital, picking up gossip and senseless rumors, and lugging them back to his White House master.

They probably didn't lose in the telling. All the back-stage comments from every bankrupt foreign minister tickled the ears of this traveling agent.

There is no room in our governmental scheme for such irresponsible meddlers.

Col. House held no official position. He messed around in Europe as Wilson's personal friend and advisor. Such monkey-business should not be tolerated. No President of these United States should be permitted to ape royalty by having private personal henchmen at his beck and call.

The public business demands public servants, not secret peddlers of gossip and rumors.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

This is different: When a man bites a horse that's news, but it didn't happen. The horse kicked the man, and that isn't news, but it's darned uncomfortable for the man. I can prove it. I asked Howard Timmons. That boy has been sideswiped by a member of the family equidae, and he don't look the same. When I asked Howard what became of the horse he said it died. Well, that's some compensation. We still have Howard.

Anyway, I've about concluded that no one is going to get the umbrella. The Journal is trying to give away for guessing closest to the two-inch rainfall. It looks like a bad season for ranchers and weather prophets.

Boy, that was a great rescue of Ellsworth and Kenyon. I wouldn't have given them the chance the AAA had with the supreme court. But when your family thinks you are dead and some message comes out of the ether that the report has been greatly exaggerated, that's a real hallelujah. But I've never yet been able to adjust my thinking to why a man wants to go so far for ice when we make it in Santa Ana.

Charley Kelly brings me a message that Roy Browning wants to make a rain guess. According to Kelly his friend Browning believes we will get no rain until May, and on the fifth, sixth and seventh, from some place out of somewhere, six inches of rain will fall. There isn't any reason in the world to doubt Kelly's report, but I would like to meet Browning face to face. And it isn't water I want to talk about.

This section is lavishly favored with flowers, and I like 'em. But would it be asking too much of those who occasionally contribute a few roses to delete the thorns?

And more anxious moments arrived about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, when the winds blew, but the floods still remained in the northern part of the state. If there is anything that gives the citrus rancher the jitters it's the Santa Ana winds. Some one or ones encoiled in the cloak of righteousness, must have been praying, for the storm was sporadic and subsided without inflicting any damage. By the way, one of these days when the dull season arrives, I'm going to devote some space to the origin of the misnamed "Santa Ana wind."

If we did not use so much space for used cars, maybe we would have more space for those we do use. If this is any contribution to the solution of the parking problem, your remittance goes to my address. But hurry, I'm likely to move.

Mike Pandell goes into a cafe, and gets the rough reception "Well, what do you want?" So Mike says he didn't want anything and came there to get it. They served him an inflated doughnut.

Yes, I'll go to the Republican Assembly meeting if someone furnishes the transportation, both vehicular and material. Hope "Sunny" Sundquist sees this item.

En route. So Dick Haster gives me a lift. Conversation immediately turned to oranges and weather. Dick was thankful we had the Santana wind and thankful it left when it did as it removed the danger of frost damage. Caring for oranges is like patients in a hospital. Every tree needs a nurse. At that they grow into adults in a remarkably short space of time and do mighty well considering the vicissitudes they go through. If you get into any other industry you will find it has its troubles. So great peaceful people into war.

But the right is more precious than peace.

And the die was cast.

And again the mysterious Col. House flits across the stage. Nothing was quite so contrary to the maintenance of peace as this solemn, inscrutable international spy. He slithered here and there among European diplomats, gliding from capital to capital, picking up gossip and senseless rumors, and lugging them back to his White House master.

They probably didn't lose in the telling. All the back-stage comments from every bankrupt foreign minister tickled the ears of this traveling agent.

There is no room in our governmental scheme for such irresponsible meddlers.

Col. House held no official position. He messed around in Europe as Wilson's personal friend and advisor. Such monkey-business should not be tolerated. No President of these United States should be permitted to ape royalty by having private personal henchmen at his beck and call.

The public business demands public servants, not secret peddlers of gossip and rumors.

Ran across a game they call "Monopoly." It has the right name. Everybody goes broke but one player.
